RECOVER 7 BODIES OF 8 DROWNED IN PALACIOS TRAGEDY

LOSE THEIR LIVES AT MOUTH OF GREEN'S BAYOU LATE THURSDAY.

SIX FROM BRECKENRIDGE AND ONE FROM ABILENE

All Were Delegates to Annual Encampment of the Baptist B. Y. P. U.

PALACIOS TEXAS July 22—Seven bodies of the eight delegates to the annual encampment of the Baptist Young Peoples Union who were drowned in Greens bayou [illegible] miles from Palacios Thursday had been recovered.

The body of Drue Cumble of Breckenridge has not yet been recovered. Three bodies were recovered last night and four today. The bayou is being dragged in hope of recovering Cumbles body.

BAYOU IS BEING DRAGGED IN SEARCH FOR THE BODIES

PALACIOS TEXAS July 22—Three bodies of the eight persons drowned late yesterday at the mouth of Greens bayou 2 miles from here have been recovered and the bayou is being dragged today in the hope of recovering the other five. All of the drowned were delegates to the annual encampment of the Baptist Young Peoples Union.

The party of 31 delegates left the camp grounds for a sail on Matagorda bay yesterday afternoon and after reaching the mouth of the bayou a number went in swimming. A bad undertow was responsible for the drowning of the eight persons.

The revised list of dead follows:

JOHN T. FRICE, Illinois, body recovered.

MISS GRACE COURTNEY, Breckenridge.

DRUE CUMBIE, Breckenridge.

MRS. B. MAYES, Breckenridge.

MISS VIE BUSTER, Breckenridge.

MISS IONA HODGES, Breckenridge, body recovered.

JAMES E. DYKES, Breckenridge, body recovered.

ARCHIE BRYANT, Abilene.

The tragedy marked the closing day of the encampment and cast a pall of sadness over the gathering.

Price lost his life while heroically attempting to rescue Miss Hodges.

The only bodies recovered up to early today—those of Price, Miss Hodges and Dykes—were taken from the water by Guy Caldwell and Adam Garney of Breckenridge. Caldwell also rescued his sister, Miss Mildred Caldwell, from drowning. Garney saved the life of Miss Mary Morgan of Breckenridge and another young woman whose name has not been learned.

That the undertow was powerful is disclosed by the fact that all the victims were adults.

Ordinarily the encampment would have ended next Sunday, but plans had been changed to bring the meeting to a conclusion late yesterday, and the bathing party went out with the intention of enjoying a farewell swim. The encampment opened July 12, and about 5,000 persons were in attendance.

A number of motor boats and airplanes were being used in the search for the missing bodies today.

FORTY DELEGATES MAKE TRIP IN A SPECIAL CAR

BRECKENRIDGE TEXAS July 22—Forty happy delegates to the Baptist summer encampment at Palacios left Breckenridge in a special car chartered by Cliff M. Caldwell, wealthy oil producer, on July 11, just ten days before yesterday's tragedy which took the lives of six members of the party.

Of the Breckenridge dead Drue Cumble, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church here, came to Breckenridge from Dallas last September. He was [illegible] years old and is survived by his widow.

Mrs. Barney Mayes, wife of a local attorney, was 28 years of age.

Miss Vie Buster was a sister of Mrs. Mayes. Her home was in Dallas but she had been visiting here.

Miss Iona Hodges, 21 years of age, was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hodges. Her mother is manager of a rooming house here and the father is drilling oil wells at Ardmore, Okla.

Miss Grace Courtney, aged 14, was a high school student here.

James Dikes, Jr., wholesale grocer clerk, is survived by a widow and 10 months baby.

Archie Bryant of Abilene, another victim, was 24 years of age and was studying for the ministry at Simmons college, Abilene.

Guy Caldwell, mentioned as heroically assisting in rescue work, is only 16 years old. He is the son of Cliff M. Caldwell and saved his sister, Mildred, and Miss Mary Morgan, daughter of the Rev. A. J. Morgan, pastor of the First Baptist church here.

YOUNG FARMER IS VICTIM OF SHOOTING IN MOTLEY COUNTY

WAS ONE OF PARTY CALLING MAN FROM TENT WHERE HE SLEPT.

HENRY ADAMS IS PLACED UNDER BOND AT MATADOR

Four Other Members of Party Are Placed Under Bond For Their Appearance

CHILDRESS TEXAS July 22—Henry Adams has been placed under $2,500 bond at Matador following the shooting and killing of C. L. Burden, a prominent young farmer west of Turkey, Motley county, who was one of a party of men who called at Adams' home at 2:30 a. m. Thursday. Four other members of the party who called at Adams' home when the shooting took place have been placed under $2,500 bond each.

According to reports reaching here the party was advancing upon a tent where Adams slept and his name had been called when a revolver shot rang out. Burden fell mortally wounded with a bullet hole through his abdomen. He was picked up by other members of the party and was carried to a wagon. He died on the way to his home about four miles distant.

Members of the same party a few days before had taken Adams to Matador and had endeavored to have a complaint filed against him for non support of his wife, but the authorities would not receive the complaint. Mrs. Adams was not at home at the time of the shooting, being at the home of a neighbor. It is reported that she has denied that Adams failed to support her or that he had mistreated her.

The affair has caused much excitement in the community about twenty miles southwest of Childress where the shooting took place and there is division of sentiment among the people.

FIRST STORY OF ACTUAL PLACING OF BETS IS TOLD BY JOHN O. SEYS

ZORK STARTED THE DEAL HARRY REDMON TESTIFIES

Witnesses Tell of Negotiations Leading Up to the Alleged Throwing Of Games.

CHICAGO July 22—Carl Zork of St. Louis, one of the defendants in the baseball trial declared during the 1919 world's series that he had started the alleged fixing deal according to testimony by Harry Redmon of East St. Louis today.

Zork told me he started the whole deal but it didn't cost him a cent, Redmon said.

Redmon's testimony was the first introduced against Zork.

FIRST STORY OF THE ACTUAL PLACING OF ALLEGED BETS

CHICAGO July 22—The first story of the actual placing of bets during the 1919 world's series by men charged with the alleged conspiracy for White Sox players to throw the games was told from the witness stand in the baseball trial today by John O. Seys, secretary of the Chicago National league club who said he held stakes in some of the bets.

Mr. Seys identified Louis Levi and his brother Pete Levi, Des Moines, as bettors. Seys said he and Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington baseball team, held stakes for bets made by Abe Attell and Louis Levi.

Seys testified he met Attell in the Sinton hotel in Cincinnati the night before the first game. Attell and Louis Levi were taking turns making bets that Cincinnati would win the first game giving odds of 6 to 5, and that Cincinnati would win the series, he said.

An intimation that Attell may not have been caught by the gamblers in the third game when Seys testified Attell told him he was not betting on Cincinnati in the third game as he thought Pitcher Dick Kerr would win for Chicago.

Bill Burns, the state's witness, had testified Attell told him he had lost a lot of money on the third game thinking the players would throw it.

Seys then testified to paying some of Levi's and Attell's bets in Chicago the day of the third game.

Harry Redmon of East St. Louis, Ill., testified at the afternoon session that Leo Franklin of St. Louis told him that in Chicago during the series that eight White Sox players were throwing the games. Franklin is under indictment but was granted a separate trial because of illness.

Franklin told me that further games could be thrown for $20,000 each and wanted to know if I would put up $5,000, testified Redmon. I told him I would not. He wanted to know if Joe Felsch of St. Louis would rough up my money. I said I'd see Felsch. I went to Felsch and called up Franklin. I told him we would not come to his room if any one was there. He said he had a party there but he'd put the party in the bathroom. Felsch and I went up and Franklin made the proposition that we put up the money to fix the games thrown. We refused.

That night we met Carl Zork of St. Louis.

Zork, Felsch and I and another man went together. Continued Redmon. Zork said he and another man started the whole deal but it didn't cost him a cent.

Zork said games had been fixed during the year.

This statement was ordered stricken out of the record by Judge Friend.

Exactly what did Zork say about the fixing of the series, asked Mr. Gorman, district attorney.

He said he did a little red-headed fellow from St. Louis had started the whole thing, replied Redmon.

Under cross-examination Attorney Henry Berger asked about Redmon's betting at races. When the state objected Redmon shouted: Let him shoot! I'll answer.

He's a bookmaker, said Berger.

You lie, said Redmon.

You're another, replied Berger.

Meet me outside and say that, shouted Redmon.

Judge Friend interrupted and the quest ning proceeded, both men shouting at the top of their voices.

Mr. Berger asked if Redmon had not sought the $100 a reward offered by Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, for proof that the series had been fixed, and if Alfred Austrian, Comiskey's attorney, had not kicked him out of his office when he asked for the reward.

No, not a word of that is true, said Redmon.

You say Zork, Felsch, you and another man talked at a hotel here Sunday night after the fourth game from 8 p. m. until 10 or 11 p. m., asked Berger.

Yes.

Don't you know Zork took the 8:30 train for St. Louis and that he was with Sid Keener, a St. Louis newspaper man, that night? asked Berger.

He was not. He was with me.

REDISTRICTING BILL INTRODUCED IN THE SENATE BY BURKETT

BURKETT ALSO PRESENTS TWO OF BILLS PROPOSED BY GOVERNOR.

OPPOSED TO MEASURES IN THEIR PRESENT FORM

Announces That They Were Presented by Request of Superintendent of Anti Saloon League

AUSTIN July 22—Senator Lee Ferguson of Eastland introduced a redistricting bill in the senate today, two of Governor Neff's law enforcement measures and a bill being the law enforcement bill and another amendment to the Lanham prohibition bill. The latter is identical with that introduced in the house by Representative Morris of Medina.

In presenting these measures to the senate Senator Burkett said: I have introduced these bills by request of Attorney Wells, superintendent of the Anti Saloon league. I am not in favor of them in their present form.

Senator Burkett also introduced a bill changing the season in which turkeys from March and April to November and December in certain southwest Texas counties.

A pink bollworm bill as recommended by the governor was introduced by Senator Lanham.

AMENDMENT TO DEAN LAW SPECIAL ORDER FOR TUESDAY

AUSTIN July 22—The Morris amendment to the Dean prohibition law which came up as first business in the house today was set for special order at 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning. The motion was made by the author, Morris of Medina.

Bills providing for the state department of agriculture and the department of marketing and warehousing were introduced by Representative Stevenson of Victoria. His measure would place these departments under a board of seven governor appointees.

A rural school bill providing appropriation of two million dollars for the next two years was introduced by Clay Cross of Nolan. Johnson of Wichita introduced a bill amending the truck tax bill passed at the regular session. John Davis of Dallas introduced a bill strengthening the pink bollworm laws to meet federal requirements.

The house accepted this morning Governor Neff's invitation to send a representative for the Allen bill against graft and extravagence at the last session. Speaker Fox announced that the chairman of the appropriations committee would authorize all on the governor for this bill passed unanimously after a spirited debate.

Adoption of the resolution came after speeches by Williams of McLennan and Parry Miller of Dallas urging that the house accept this invitation.

The resolution was adopted as a substitute for the Bohanan resolution introduced yesterday providing for a committee of five representatives and three senators investigate the charges. Representative Speight of Anderson offered the substitute calling attention to the senate's refusal to pass similar resolution yesterday.

Representative Satterwhite, chairman of the appropriations committee said that he will call a public hearing on the senate bill today for the purpose of which he will then transmit to the house.

Lehman of Representative Williams said that the senate should take the lead.

A bill by Senator Cousins of Jefferson appropriating an appropriation of $1,000 to pay the expenses of taking school census in any school district when it may be necessary under the direction of the state board of education was passed finally in the senate.

The senate adjourned until 10 o'clock Monday morning.

The alleged organization of the Ku Klux Klan was introduced for the first time on the floor of the house yesterday when Representative Burmester offered a resolution to sink rider giving the appropriation for paying sheriffs fees in the judiciary bill from $1 to $2,000.

Representative Burmester said he did not know if there was an organization of the Ku Klux Klan but if there was it was certain that the sheriffs would have more to do for the next two years.

A house resolution by Morris of Medina, Rogers of Harris and others, if there was not direct, this morning that the legislature cooperate with Governor Neff in every way in carrying out their duties. It was filed with the speaker and will be read on the next calendar day of the house.

REPORT AN ENCIRCLING MOVEMENT BY GREEKS

Right Wing Has Cut Off Retreat Of Turkish Nationalists Towards Angora.

By Associated Press.

SMYRNA July 22—An important encircling movement by the Greek right wing is reported to have cut off the retreat of the Turkish nationalists towards Angora from Eski Shehr railway junction, captured by the Greeks in their sweeping offensive, Athens reports.

The Turkish defensive line now is said to be in a very isolated and the Turks will be from virtually prisoners. The number of Turkish prisoners already taken has reached [illegible] since the start of the battle today.

Meanwhile Mustapha Kemal, leader of the Turkish nationalist forces, is said to be fleeing toward Angora. Here the Turkish government is said to be preparing the Greek victory.

IRISH PEACE TERMS ARE CONSIDERED BY THE ULSTER CABINET

NO OPINION REQUESTED AND NONE HAS BEEN GIVEN, SAYS REPORT.

HAVE NOT ABANDONED ALL HOPE FOR PEACE

De Valera Leaves London For a Conference With Leaders at Dublin.

BELFAST July 22—The Irish peace terms handed by Premier Lloyd George yesterday to Eamonn de Valera were considered by the Ulster cabinet today. No opinion on the terms was requested by the prime minister, it is stated, and none has been given.

It was expected the prime minister would be able to make a comprehensive statement concerning the peace terms in the house of commons next week, it was added.

LONDON July 22—The British government's proposals to Eamonn de Valera for Irish peace in Ireland probably will not be put until a definite reply to the government's terms has been received from the Sinn Fein leaders in Dublin, it was stated in official circles here this afternoon.

DE VALERA AND ASSOCIATES LEAVE LONDON FOR DUBLIN

LONDON July 22—The center of interest in Irish affairs was transferred to Dublin today with the departure of Eamonn de Valera and his cabinet for the seat of their government.

The Irish leader is taking with him a document he received yesterday from the hands of David Lloyd George, the British premier, setting forth definite proposals of the British government.

The proposals will be submitted to members of the Irish parliament and Mr. Lloyd George will hear from them in time how the discussions are progressing.

Later, Mr. de Valera it is expected will return to London for further conversations and Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, may reenter the negotiations at this time.

The Irish leader appeared to be in a cheerful frame of mind as he emerged from his conference with the British premier yesterday although an agreed communique issued after the meeting said that no basis for a formal conference has yet been found.

In this connection it is authoritatively stated that the true peace in Ireland will continue for an indefinite period unless convincing the most skeptical that facilities are still for months ahead.

London Papers Cheerful

London newspapers this morning take a cheerful view of the entire situation, refusing even to anticipate the probability of a breakdown. Several prominent correspondents supply reputed versions of the premier's statement to the southern Irish leader which although they agree in some points differ sufficiently in detail to show that the terms still remain largely a matter of speculation and will not be cleared up until the official text of the proposals is published.

Meanwhile opposition from the extremists in both camps is said to have developed as a result of an interview several Ulster members of the house had with Austen Chamberlain, leader of the government forces, yesterday.

While this interview is understood to have had far reaching effects the Ulster spokesmen in the house of commons, in the debate later in the day said that Mr. Chamberlain's explanations were entirely satisfactory and that not forty of the dissenters had met and passed resolutions expressing grave apprehension over the government's Irish policy.

Just how much the hostilities will be used to affect the government is not yet apparent. The London Times says it is not to be underestimated.

Certainly the sense of satisfaction which would be produced by a settlement of Ireland's woes would overweigh the opposition set aside and give the government a commanding authority for the arrangements.

HAVE PERFECT CONFIDENCE IN ULTIMATE SUCCESS

LONDON July 22—Eamonn de Valera arrived at East Croydon shortly after 5 o'clock this morning to take an 8:40 train for Dublin. To press newspaper men who crowded him for an interview he said:

Although the immediate future is in doubt we have perfect confidence in the ultimate success of our cause.

A few minutes later he stood up in his carriage to address the large crowd of Irish enthusiasts who swarmed about the station. First in Gaelic then in English he thanked them for coming out so early in the morning to bid him godspeed and said everywhere he went the same enthusiasm for the cause for which only a just cause will lost.

I am perfectly certain our course will win in the end. It may take some time to accomplish but we are certainly with some of that I am sure, he said.

Dallas Man Has Encounter With Fan in His Bed

DALLAS July 22—H. B. Ingram was reported at the Baptist hospital today as the result of a razor fray in which he was cut in several places. When Ingram was taken to the hospital he said the 14-year-old son of a lady with whom he had been staying had come to his room at the rear of the house and cut him with a razor while he was in bed. He said the boy had been jealous of his attentions to his mother. He said he had ordered the boy from the premises. The boy then ran to his home and returned with a razor. Ingram's legs and feet were lacerated.

Housing Shortage Exists.

At a [illegible] stage [illegible] housing exists the report stated because of prohibitive construction costs to householder and banker

Many union rules were condemned as absolutely wrong and both employers and employes were blamed for restriction of output

Union regulations in the past have produced enormous losses said the report through direct or indirect restriction of output Workmen and contractors however are beginning to appreciate that reduced output reacts in tremendous taxes upon them selves

[illegible] between workers and employers is an absolute essentia This cooperation must be attained before we can approach the elimination of labor difficulties Such cooperation however is impossible without the removal of causes of friction and the working out of plans to that end

The report deplores the irregularity of employment for building trades workmen declaring that they were busy only on an average of 100 days a year It recommended the following means of reducing seasonable unemployment

Allowance of small margin of profit for both labor and capital during the winter months development of methods of conducting the work in cold weather arrangement of work to provide indoor operations in cold and stormy weather organization of a bureau of information for coordination of activities in regulating the usefulness of employment bureaus and educating the [illegible]

The 'Philadelphia plan' is endorsed by the report as one of the means of adjusting labor difficulties and eliminating waste This plan it was stated provides for a tribunal or council of the building industry composed of an equal number of representatives of employers and employes

It also proposes establishment of a central bureau through which voluntarily all construction programs in the territory should be cleared including national state municipal and private work

Unions are not alone blamed for restricting output by the report which says that contractors and builders and [illegible] dealers are not the situation to a great degree indirectly by maintenance of high prices collusion of bidding and unfair practices

Haphazard Management

Haphazard management in planning and controlling work and lack of standards in the industry has often doubled the labor costs states the report

Trade unions are urged to make their service more valuable to the employer by developing and training the men in their organization and assisting in the development of standardization of time method and material

Never in the history of our country concluded the report was it so important that certain fundamental principles of economics should be accepted and established as a working program These principles will throw overboard the fallacy that restricting production can make work go further and will supplant this with the knowledge to get one must give that to receive the equivalent must be given in money or in time or in effort and that increased returns can only be attained through increased production"

The building investigation was in charge of Sanford E Thompson of Boston who directed a large force of field workers who covered the entire country with special attention the report said, being paid to representative cities such as Boston New York Baltimore Chicago Cleveland Atlanta and San Francisco

CORPORATIONS MUST PAY CAPITAL STOCK TAX ON OR BEFORE JULY 31ST

The following statement has been issued by Scott Reed collector of internal revenue for the second district of Texas and has been given The Times with the request that it be published

July 31 is the last day for filing returns of the capital stock tax To avoid penalty the returns must be in the hands of internal revenue collectors on or before midnight of that date

Blank forms are available at the office of collector of internal revenue at Dallas and at the following branch offices Wichita Falls Tyler Fort Worth and Abilene Form 707 is required for domestic and form 708 for foreign corporations

The capital stock tax is a special excise tax imposed on corporations with respect to carrying on or doing business The tax on domestic corporations is $1 for each $1000 or so much of the fair average value of its capital stock for the preceding year ending June 30 as is in excess of $5000 foreign corporations are required to pay a tax at the rate of $1 for each $1000 of their capital employed in the transaction of business in the United States without the benefit of the $5000 deduction The tax is payable in advance returns filed in July of this year covering the taxable year beginning July 1 1921 and ending June 30 1922

The bureau of internal revenue estimates that approximately 320000 such returns will be filed and that the amount of revenue derived from this source will be approximately $90000000

Returns are required of every domestic corporation regardless of the fair value of its capital stock and of every foreign corporation irrespective of the amount of capital employed in this country in the transaction of its business Certain corporations not organized for profit are exempt from the capital stock tax The class of organizations entitled to exemption is described in regulations 50 revised copies of which may be obtained at the following offices Dallas Wichita Falls Fort Worth Tyler and Abilene

Corporations claiming exemption are required to file returns setting forth their reasons for such claims accompanied by evidence in support thereof

If because of lack of complete data or other reasons than illness or absence, it is impossible to file a complete return on or before July 31 tentative return may be filed reporting the approximate value in order that an initial assessment may be made thus avoiding penalty

The penalty for failure to file a return within the time prescribed is an added assessment of 25 per cent of the amount due unless it is shown that the failure was due to reasonable cause and not neglect

In addition to the added assessment a fine of not more than $1000 is provided for failure to make a return on time For willful refusal to make a return willful evasion of the tax, willful refusal to supply information requested by the commissioner or attempting in any way to evade the tax and payment when due the penalty is a fine of not more than $10000 or imprisonment for not more than one year or both

With a view to the prompt collection of the capital stock tax and for the convenience of the tax payer as well as the government the bureau suggests that corporations submit the tax with the returns for the amount of tax due This method is appealing to corporations because it lessens liability to penalty

ELECTRIC COMPANY HOST TO WICHITANS THURSDAY EVENING

INSPECTION OF BIG PLANT, BARBECUE AND SHORT PROGRAM ARE FEATURES OF VISIT.

"FIRST AID" EXHIBITION IS GIVEN BY COMPANY

Speakers Tell History of Plant and of Part it is Now Playing in City And Section.

An inspection of the power plant a first class barbecue and a number of interesting talks combined Thursday evening to make Pete Rogers' party an occasion of marked enjoyment for members of the Rotary club and a number of invited guests. About 1[illegible] responded to Mr Rogers' invitation the occasion being planned to better acquaint Wichitans with the institution that serves not only this city but a considerable part of northwest Texas.

A very interesting feature of the meeting was a first aid demonstration illustrating the sort of training in which the electric company specializes and which it is helping to inculcate in school children in this city.

The visit to the plant was a revelation to the Wichitans who had not seen it before. Representatives of the company explained the workings and purposes of the big and mysterious looking pieces of equipment whose steady throbbings make it possible for people 30 miles away to read by electric light after supper in their homes. Probably few of the visitors realized, and the knowledge came to them that there are few plants in the southwest as large or as efficiently operated as that in Wichita Falls.

A barbecue supper with all fixings including I. A. Rogers' own special brand of coca cola followed and the guests then seated themselves in an improvised outdoor auditorium. After a brief session of the Rotary club President Rhines of that organization turned the meeting over to A. L. Myers as toastmaster. Mr Myers said that the plant was an exemplification of the Rotary principle of service and he called upon Frank Kell to tell something of the history of the plant.

Mr Kell described some of the early difficulties of the plant saying that at first electric light fixtures were as rare as ermines in Wichita Falls homes but that no one thought of trying to do anything for service. Discussing the present ownership of the property Mr Kell declared them to be western men with the broad community spirit that has come to be regarded as typically western.

Other speakers were I. N. Lawton, C. W. Travers, Orville Bullington and Hugh N. Fitzgerald, who discussed humorously and otherwise various phases of the plant and its meaning to Wichita Falls. P. A. Rogers in a brief expression of appreciation of the reception his invitation had fallen of these assembled with him in purveying current to northwest Texas. He mentioned Jimmy Lyle in charge of the engines, J. W. Thayer in charge of meters and service equipment, Jack Cox, plant superintendent, and last but not least, A. E. Kelly, who has been with the familiar little blue barrels.

"First Aid" Exhibition

Those present at the meeting witnessed the demonstration of the company's efforts in the work of teaching the general public the value of knowing the prone pressure method of resuscitation which has proven so successful in reviving persons knocked out by drowning, gas asphyxiation, smoke and electric shock. The prone pressure method is being universally adopted as the best method to administer artificial respiration to persons affected by the above mentioned causes.

The ever increasing number of swimming pools being installed increases the value of the prone pressure method of resuscitation to the individual. By this method records show that people have been revived after other known applications have failed. It is endorsed by the most eminent physicians of the country.

E. Kelland, safety engineer of the Wichita Falls Electric company, gave an actual demonstration of the method. Rutland has been teaching the system to municipalities in north and east Texas and more recently outlined the operation of the method to the Lions club at Brownwood.

You frequently hear of deaths from drowning, electric shock and gas asphyxiation," Mr Rutland said. "The danger is as a rule not altogether due from three causes: the ignorance and incompetence of some one near in the way of rendering immediate assistance. In any of these cases the primary result is the stoppage of breathing and it is only necessary to get the respiratory organs to function again. The method is the one main method and requires no equipment only the hands.

Illustration showing how the prone pressure method of resuscitation is administered on persons knocked out by drowning, smoke, gas asphyxiation or electric shock.

In any of these cases first turn the victim on his stomach, face sidewise, and resting on one of his arms bent at the elbow. Feel with your finger in his mouth and throat to pull out his tongue if partially swallowed or remove any foreign substance. If mouth is tight shut pay no more attention to it until later. Kneel straddling the patient's hips. Place the palm of your hands on the small of his back with the fingers spread over the lowest ribs, the thumb alongside your fingers just out of sight as in figure 1 of the illustration.

With your arms held straight swing forward slowly so that the weight of your body is gradually brought to bear upon the subject as in figure 2. Do not hurry or become excited. Remember that the patient in order to be brought back to life must breathe regularly or just as you ordinarily breathe. Could yourself in each act by your own deep regular respiration. Continue resuscitation if necessary four hours or longer without interruption or until natural breathing is restored or until stiffening of the body has set in.

The method was successfully administered in Wichita Falls last May by J. W. Lyle an employee of the Wichita Falls Electric company when W. O. Dougherty a fellow employee received an electric shock while working near the American refinery. Mr Dougherty was completely frozen out and outsiders had given him up for dead when Mr Lyle straddled him and signs of life appeared after ten minutes work.

I. A. Rogers, manager of the Wichita Falls Electric company, has tendered the services of his resuscitation committee to teach the method to any body of people or individuals who would like to know it.

RESOLUTION WILL BE FORWARDED TO AUSTIN

Will Urge That Present Business Conditions Be Considered in Making Appropriations.

A motion calling upon the state legislature now meeting in called session to exercise the most rigid economy possible in making appropriations in order that the tax rate may be kept down was adopted Friday morning at a meeting of the Wichita Falls business men at the chamber of commerce rooms.

A resolution setting forth this plea will be prepared shortly and forwarded to the legislators.

Those present at the meeting took the view that considering present business and financial conditions throughout Texas the tax burden should be at the very lowest possible commensurate with the state needs.

9TH STREET PAVING NEARS COMPLETION. 8TH TO COME NEXT

Another ten days will see the Ninth street paving project practically completed, City Engineer Montgomery stated Friday morning, while work on the Eighth street project will probably be started not later than Monday of next week.

The crushed rock base over which the bituulithic surface will be spread was being put down Friday on the one remaining block on Ninth and with the exception of about 100 feet where it crosses tracks running into the car barn all of the base will be laid by the end of the week. Until the tracks are moved by the street car company the street cannot be finished.

The Eighth street paving which is to extend from Bluff to Broad street a distance of four blocks will also be of the bituulithic composition. Concrete curbing has already been installed along the sides of the new paving.

POSITIVE SHE IS FORMER STUDENT NORTH TEXAS NORMAL COLLEGE.

TELLS HOSPITAL AUTHORITIES THAT SHE WAS KIDNAPED

Escapes Captors, She Says, And Came To Wichita Falls and Later Landed in Denver.

DENTON, TEXAS, July 22.—Positive identification of a young girl in a Denver hospital as Miss Connnie Phillips of Rosston, Texas, was made here today by Dr. T. H. Bruce, president of the North Texas Normal college, from a photograph forwarded from Denver. Miss Phillips was a former student of the college and withdrew on July 6. On July 12 she was picked up in Denver with her mind blank, Mr. Bruce said. The girl claimed to have been kidnaped, according to Mr Bruce, who said his attention was called to the case three days ago.

TELLS OF KIDNAPING AND OF ESCAPE FROM CAPTORS

DENVER, COL., July 22.—The young woman who has been at the Denver city and county hospital unidentified since July 12, Thursday admitted to Dr. J. R. Jeager, acting resident physician that she was Miss Connie Phillips of Rosston, Texas. The girl said she was kidnaped by a man and a woman "with red hair" from Denton, Texas.

The young woman admitted she was Miss Phillips after the physician told her he had a telegram from Denton saying she was missing and described her. The girl told a story about how she came to Denver from a little normal school at Denton.

Miss Phillips said a man and woman came to her and asked her to go to Grayson, Texas, to inspect a school with a view to teaching there this coming winter. The girl said she had taught school and was taking a summer course at Denton. She accepted the invitation, and got into a car with the couple and started away with two suit cases containing clothing.

"After we had driven about 50 miles or more," Miss Phillips told the physician, "I became suspicious that we were not going to Grayson. I protested and was bound, gagged and drugged. After a while I recovered enough to hear what was being said. I pretended to sleep and heard the couple plan to murder me as they said I greatly resembled a niece of theirs who was an heiress and whose money they would get if it got out that she was dead.

"I decided to escape if possible and struggled free and got away. I was not far from Wichita Falls, Texas, I found, so I walked into that city carrying my two suit cases. I was dazed and did not realize just where I was or what I was doing until I arrived in Denver. Then I became dazed again. I had not been able to remember until today who I was."

Miss Phillips said she left Denton at midnight July 6. She arrived here about July 10, it is believed, registered under an assumed name at a local hotel and on July 12 fainted in a downtown office building and was taken to the city and county hospital. The name of a shoe company was found on her shoes, but the address had been cut out. It was found later the shoe company was located at Denton.

The girl said that she had had trouble at home. She said she had a stepfather by the name of Hester who, with her mother, lives at Rosston, Texas.

Neurologists who questioned her declared the girl was shamming. A telegram received tonight from the sheriff of Cooke county, Texas, at Gainesville, asked local authorities to hold the girl until her relatives, who were to start immediately, could reach Denver.

The telegram said the girl had been missing since July 6.

ANONYMOUS LETTER WARNS MECHANIC TO QUIT CITY BY FRIDAY

An anonymous letter warning him to leave Wichita Falls by Friday night was received early this week by J. H. Samuelson, who is employed at the Callahan repair shop at Sixth and Indiana.

The letter, written on a piece of paper bag, was found by Samuelson on the bureau in his room. It closed with the words "You know why."

Later Jack Callahan, Samuelson's employer, received a warning to discharge Samuelson.

"They'd better leave me alone," Samuelson said Friday. "I have no idea why anyone should have it in for me like that, but if they start anything, I'll be ready for them."

ILLNESS FATAL TO HEAD OF BUSINESS COLLEGE THURSDAY

John R. Bilyeu, aged 57, died Thursday afternoon in a local hospital after a protracted period of illness which resulted in his being stricken with pernicious anaemia about two weeks ago. He had been in poor health for several months, it is said, and the serious illness suffered early in July left him with but a scant chance of life.

Mr. Bilyeu was president and general manager of the National School of Business in this city and had built up a wide circle of friends during his connection with the institution. He opened the school in 1917, shortly after his arrival in the city, and had built it up till at the time of his death it was one of the leaders of its kind in the state.

The body was removed to the Meekle and Lunn undertaking establishment and prepared for burial, later being taken to Stillwater, Okla., for burial. A brother, Jesse Bilyeu, was present at the time of death and accompanied the body home.

FUNERAL SERVICES ARE HELD THURSDAY FOR LITTLE ELIZABETH HANKS

Funeral services for Elizabeth Hanks, aged four years, who died Wednesday afternoon from an appendicitis operation in a local hospital, were held at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the First Methodist church south, with Rev. H. L. Kincaid officiating.

The little girl was taken ill early in the week and immediately rushed to the medical institution where every effort was made to save her life. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hanks, 1403 Bluff street.

Burial was in Rosemont burial park.

ELECTRIC IRON CAUSES FIRE ON SIXTH STREET, HOUSE BADLY DAMAGED

Fire believed to have started from an electric iron that was left connected while the family was on a picnic trip to the lake burned away the interior of a house at 1103 Sixth street, occupied by Mrs. Annie Parker, at 8:30 o'clock Thursday night, causing loss estimated at between $800 and $1,000.

The flames had gained such headway before being discovered that it was impossible to save anything but the frame of the building. The roof was badly damaged and the outside walls scorched, while the inner partitions and all furnishings were a complete loss.

Insurance to the amount of $[illegible] was carried on the furniture, according to reports, and some insurance was also carried on the building, which was owned by C. C. Allison of Carthage, Texas.

PUBLIC MARKET SPACE ONLY FOR THOSE WHO RAISE PRODUCTS THEMSELVES

Complaints were made Friday morning by Mrs. H. S. Crawford, chairman of the open-air market committee, that several men had usurped space on the market lot and were selling products which they had not raised themselves. A stringent rule of the market is that no one shall offer foodstuffs for sale that have not been produced by the seller.

Mrs. Crawford wishes the public to understand that this rule must be strictly adhered to and that no one will be permitted to occupy space in the market grounds without having satisfied the committee of their right to do so.

The unwelcome hucksters Friday were not aware of the ruling it is said, and promptly left when informed.

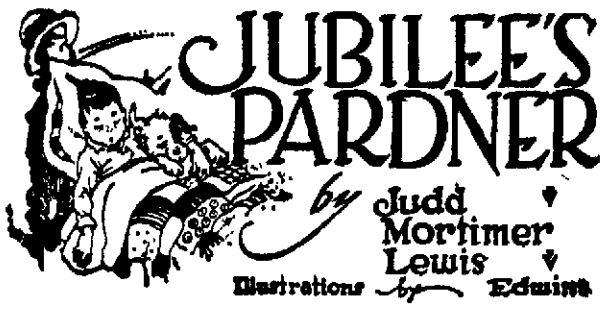
CALOMEL DYING FAST IN SOUTH

"Dodson's Liver Tone" is Taking the Place of Dangerous, Sickening Drug.

You're billious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's Dodson's guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate so let them eat anything afterwards.—adv.



A feller can do a lot with 93 cents. I had two quarters, two nickels and three dimes and three cents. I have had a lot of that dollar and a half and I have got some of it left yet. Younias was setting on our back step in her bloomers and a shirt of pants and every time I went out to milk our cow and churn butter and she said that she had no girls so that I would not be gone with them. I told her they are not bad because I can lick any of them. I said that Frank is the only bad one and he only thinks he is bad.

My mother asked her if she had been to breakfast and she said she had but she would just as soon eat some more. She said her mother was going away to spend the day and said she did not know what to do with her so Younias said to her mother that she would just as soon go out with me and her mother thought that would be a good scheme. My mother said she bet a mess it was going up trouble for themselves but I do not know what she meant because I had not done a thing.

When the lunch saw Younias they all laughed but Frenchy and when the lunch said I might as well take the cows out and they would go swimming. Frenchy said he would go with me and Younias. But Younias kinda flang her curls and said that not us but asked him to go with us so he thought he had better go swimming.

Pete Erick said to me that when me and Younias get married would I let his father marry us. If he had not jumped offal quick he would have got a shoot in the pants. Younias said that when we got marierd we would get married by a justice of the piece and then it would be against the law to not stay married. I guess Younias must have been studying it up.

We had a pail full of berries when it come noon so we went home and my mother put sugar and cream on a plate full for each of us and after dinner I was walking on my hands to show Younias how when my 93 cents fell out of my pocket and she said Oh less go to a movie so now I have got to carry less four street car rides and two movie tickets which is only 20 cents. It must be hard luck to be a married man and always have a femall around to spend money on. A dog is different. I guess I will save my 23.

One of the most noticeable features of smart juvenile fashions is their extreme brevity. Never were children's frocks of the short variety. Skirts no end will all see the knees and legs remain uncovered. Also there is a marked shortness of the white frock for play frocks the colorful English prints and ginghams especially red and white are full of the spirit and joyous laughter of childhood.

To [illegible] the long hot summer of hard play are these two practical frocks for the wee miss who still wears socks that is when she wears anything at all. These two designs may be copied in any of the materials preferred for children. The pretty slip at the left is featured at the shop where I found it in pink and bright blue chambray with white mercerized thread embroidery on a border of flowered chintz may be substituted of red and white striped flannel. The blouse is of sheer batiste.

Many of the little frocks are exhibited with tiny breeches made of the same material as the dress. These are usually attached to or made in one with an underblouse of muslin.

POSITIVE SHE IS FORMER STUDENT NORTH TEXAS NORMAL COLLEGE

TELLS HOSPITAL AUTHORITIES THAT SHE WAS KIDNAPED

Escapes Captors, She Says, And Came To Wichita Falls and Later Landed In Denver

DENTON TEXAS July 22—Positive identification of a young girl in a Denver hospital as Miss Connie Phillips of Rosston Texas was made here today by Dr. H. Bruce president of the North Texas Normal college from a photograph forwarded from Denver. Miss Phillips was a former student of the college and withdrew on July 6. On July 12 she was picked up in Denver with her mind blank Mr. Bruce said. The girl claimed to have been kidnaped according to Mr. Bruce who said his attention was called to the case three days ago.

TELLS OF KIDNAPING AND OF ESCAPE FROM CAPTORS

DENVER Colo. July 22—The young woman who has been at the Denver city and county hospital suffering from a mental breakdown since she was found in a state of nudity on the streets of this city last Friday night was recognized today as Miss Connie Phillips of Rosston Texas, a girl who disappeared from her home in Denton Texas.

The girl told officials she was Miss Phillips when she came to her senses in a hospital ward here. She said she came to Denver from a little normal school in Texas.

Miss Phillips, a woman who came to her assistance, said she came to Denver last July to inspect a school with a view to taking the position of dietitian. She said she had taught school in Denton Texas.

Miss Phillips, a woman who came to her assistance, said she came to Denver last July to inspect a school with a view to taking the position of dietitian. She said she had taught school in Denton Texas.

After a total lapse of memory of months or more, Miss Phillips said she began to become suspicious that we were being followed. She testified she was found, assaulted and drugged. After a while she recovered enough to leave the hotel where she was staying and hired a taxicab to carry her to a station. She said she had the cab to carry her to a station. She said I got out of the cab and started to walk to the station. I was struck down from behind and knocked unconscious. When I came to I was in a hotel room in Wichita Falls, Texas. I was there for some time. I was dazed and did not know where I was. I was taken to the station and put on a train for Denver

WHEN WILL BUSINESS IMPROVE?

During the campaign last year there was much expression given that a change in the parties in power would shortly bring about a revival of business and economic conditions

The country has jogged along from bad to worse even though there was a change Almost every one with whom you talk offers a different reason why conditions are so bad, even though almost everyone agrees that they are extremely bad

A few days ago one of the greatest banking institutions of the country barely escaped failure—and it is a billion dollar institution Big financial men came to the rescue and kept its doors open and it weathered the storm even though its officers came out penniless

The steel mills of the country have cut their prices and then again cut their prices but the public will not buy their product An official of a great steel company recently stated that inquiries reaching his company all had to do with small orders and that even these small buyers had to be shown the books of the steel company The buyers want to know what the exact costs are and because these costs are above what they were in 1913 no large orders are being placed

A Cleveland Ohio steel concern recently accept an order totaling $125 000 They figured so closely on this order that there will be no profit, but because they preferred to have the plant running and keep some of the men working they took the order All manufacturers agree that the period for large profits is past They plan upon keeping their plants busy for the next year at little or no profit and do this with the single hope of being able to secure more business when conditions again improve

But in the steel manufacturing business the big fight is going to be with labor Labor represents approximately 90 per cent of the cost of manufacture The officials of the steel companies state with determination that the price of labor will come down, and that within a few months The likelihood of a strike is reasonably remote since labor does not have a large surplus upon which it can live during a prolonged strike

However business conditions could at this moment be vastly improved were there enough people in the country with the nerve of Henry Ford There is sufficient capital around to keep business humming except for two things the buying public believes that prices will go still lower and accordingly are remaining out of the market—but prices cannot go much, if any lower until labor is reduced and those who sympathize with labor hope that it will not have to recede to the pre war low levels The other thing which prevents business from being good at this dull period of the year is the hesitancy of those who have cash to put it to work until they see that business has literally helped itself out of the mud and is again moving forward

This timidity on the part of the investing public is everywhere prominent in the northern and eastern financial circles Men who would in ordinary times invest one hundred thousand dollars in an undertaking now hesitate investing five thousand dollars and the hesitancy over investing the smaller sum is not because they do not now have the larger sums on hand but because they think they might perhaps, maybe, possibly, likely somehow some way, probably need that for something else later on—they might you know

Henry Ford recognized last spring that the situation was largely one of psychology and to his credit he demonstrated that this was the case Late last winter Ford needed approximately ninety million dollars for taxes and to complete the payment to his former partners He nearly had arrangements completed for borrowing this amount of money but they fell through This did not deter Ford He forgot all about his plans for borrowing the money, and in the face of a supposed national buyers strike and the lack of funds abroad for purchasing American goods he proceeded to start the wheels of his plants going around He had about twenty millions of cash on hand at that time Within five months Ford has succeeded in so speeding up production and moving his manufactured products in a market that is not buying and making collections at a time when collections were supposedly not possible to make that he has turned the corner—he secured his ninety millions his taxes are paid his partners have been bought out and paid and during the month of July he is turning out a car every twenty seconds Many men in banking and manufacturing circles will tell you that Ford is crazy He may be he may be, but if he is he is crazy like a fox

But in spite of Ford's remarkable showing the general run of business men will not follow his example, they do not want to bet upon the future, which right now is the safest bet that ever could be laid. Everywhere men refuse to consider new undertakings or expansion at the present time and in the same breath declare that the next decade will be a period of the soundest prosperity that this country has ever known

In an analysis of the situation one cannot help asking why this should not be the case While it is true that the world is no longer on a gold basis, it is also true that the accumulation of gold in any nation tends to make that nation's finances strikingly firm In the United States assay office on Wall street, New York City employes finished July 16th weighing and testing grains of gold and counting gold certificates which comprise $1 500 000 000—about one-fifth of the world's gold supply Besides this amount there is ($572 000 000) of gold in a sealed vault in the same office New consignments of gold are coming in on practically every important European steamer from all of the countries of the world

But the accumulation of gold will not improve business conditions in this country Several million men are idle in the United States at the present time—they must be given work, a good percentage of the rolling stock of our railroads has been idle for months 70 per cent of the ships on the Great Lakes are now lying idly in docks waiting for something to do

The wheels of the nation's business must all begin functioning before there will be the return of prosperity The situation is not so much however, the improvement of condition the United States as it is of finding a way to help Europe pay Nearly every one talks about making Europe pay—which is all well and good, but it is superficial and unnecessary Of course we should make Europe pay, but the real question is how are we going to help Europe so that she can pay?

Except in certain unimportant articles Europe has but little raw material for the use of the world—her profits come from the finished product which she makes out of the raw materials the remainder of the world formerly supplied her with

Aside from being broke and practically without credit Europe must pay several prices for all the raw materials she buys The result is that her purchases are limited to actual necessities

On monies loaned her during the war Europe now owes this government approximately one billion dollars in interest and ten billion dollars in principal, add to this better than five billions of dollars in private credits, which are increasing daily along with the interest on the loans previously made This indicates that Europe has a pretty stiff load to carry Our problem is entirely, or at least it should be, that of helping Europe in order that she may be able to repay us

But that is all so far off the repayment of Europe's debts to us, that it cannot affect appreciably our present situation Practically everything now sold Europe must be sold on credit Germany is about to complete arrangements for a $59,000 000 credit with which she can buy food supplies and raw materials from the United States This will help the wheat and cotton growers but it will tie up the cash with which they have been purchased The Russian wheat crop in the central portions is almost a total failure which will call for greater and greater buying of wheat from this country All of this will help provide a market but it will not provide cash

Bankers in the east claim that conditions will not be on a sound basis until 40 per cent of the small concerns are put out of business; this means especially retailing After that is done and those engaged in such business begin producing there will be an early and sure return to prosperity

Bankers and large business men in the Atlantic and Lake states also state their belief that the coming winter will be the hardest one in tight money and unemployment this country has experienced in years They may or may not be correct The fact remains that there are unmistakable signs of sound improvement

Failures are decreasing or at least the increase in failures is dropping off and the large credit agencies announce their belief that failures for the second half of the year will be less than for the first half

Bank deposits in the city of Cleveland were only four million less for the month of June than they were for May, a smaller decrease by half than for any preceding month And Cleveland is a typical center of the country—it has steel, machinery, clothing and many other kinds of manufacture as well as being an agricultural shipping and railroad center.

Business is improving right now and the hardest part of the road has been covered But this improvement has not come from any of the reasons advanced in last fall's campaign It has come about in spite of every reason then so advanced Business has improved because there was nothing else for it to do

The country is fundamentally sound economically It suffered from two extremely bad diseases inflation and speculation Inflation is gone or fast going and speculation is dead There was nothing else wrong And now there is nothing else wrong than timidity, a timidity which comes from small minds and fearful hearts.

This timidity comes partly from tremendous losses, most of them paper losses, suffered by men high up in the financial game You hear nearly everywhere of some one who has dropped millions—but in most cases they are individuals who bought on margins and pyramided as it were They never had any real wealth, not during the period of speculation and inflation. They are really no worse off now than before

And this timidity partly comes from the passing of dividends by industries and railroads, in which sound business men have long had investments. One man in an Ohio town owns 25,000 shares of stock which has been paying him $6 per share annually. This was his income, on this he lived and made new investments None of the stock has this year paid a dividend and accordingly he is living on borrowed money,

He is only one of thousands—there is nothing left for such people but to sell a part of their securities, or else to borrow money Many have sold and the stock market has been forced down and down Others have borrowed for their living and business needs

The securities they own are sound, the properties back of them are worth the full value but the timidity of the public in going ahead—and this includes especially the big business men—has cut off the earnings from their securities

There is nothing much that can be done about it—congress seems determined to be as discouraging as possible, the administration has offered no direct and constructive remedies there has been no nursing nor doctors, no drugs—not even Christian Science But the patient is getting well much after the fashion of the dog which takes care of its own wounds

Editorial Echoes

Especially for the Ku Klux Klan.
(Houston Chronicle)

Boys you'd better disband You'd better have one more meeting and adjourn sine die You'd better take your sheets your banners your masks your regalia and make one fine bonfire

Without pausing to argue over the objects you have in mind it is sufficient to say that your methods are hopelessly wrong Every tradition of social progress is against them They are opposed to every principle on which this government is founded They are out of keeping with civilized life

There is no place in this country for the anonymous letter writer no matter what his purpose There is no room for the disguised moral purveyor

You seem to forget that the chief advantage of democracy is to let in the daylight to prevent secret punishment, to insure a fair hearing for every person to make impossible that kind of tyranny which can only flourish in the dark

The newspapers of last Sunday were disgraced with the account of four illegal unnecessary and wholly ineffectual outrages

Without assuming that your organization was directly responsible for any or all of them, it was in large measure indirectly responsible

Your organization has made the thought of secretly organized violence fashionable

It matters not who can get into your organization or who is kept out any group of men can ape your disguise your methods and your practices

Your platform therefore your ritual your oath and even your membership have no control over the activities you have set on foot

Strictly American though your ideals may be your way of carrying them out is absolutely un American

The very fact that you assume to take over functions of the law indicates disrespect for the law

The very fact that you keep your identity concealed is in itself a confession of doubt as to the wisdom of what you do

Putting these considerations aside your methods are such that they can be appropriated by every scalawag and cut throat with impunity

The very secrecy by which you think to shield yourselves becomes a sound alibi for every element of malcontent.

If outrages occur for which you are not accountable—and they will—you have no way of clearing yourselves except by throwing off your disguise and invoking that publicity you have sought to deny

Your role of masked violence of purification by stealth or reform by terrorism, is an impossible one Your position is such that you must accept responsibility for every offense which smacks of disguised tyranny

You have done nothing so distinctly as give the cue to very form of hate malice, envy and temper You have shown the man who wants to get even how to hire half a dozen friends put on your uniform and hunt his victim in the night

Those of you who are disgusted with the havoc already created—and the number is doubtless large—will only make matters worse by merely getting out

Under such circumstances the organization would be left in the hands of the least desirable element

The only safe and effectual remedy lies in straight forward disbandment If this remedy is not accepted and applied by those who have the power it will be forced by the people That is something thoughtful men would prefer to avoid

The Ku Klux Klan as recently rejuvenated serves no useful purpose On the other hand it makes room for innumerable abuses The community—meaning the whole nation—is against it and the community will grow more resolutely against it as time goes on Those who brought it into being no matter what their intentions would better bring about its dissolution before the storm breaks That is the easiest and most sensible way in which to rid themselves and the community of what is rapidly becoming a bad situation

THE TARIFF ON HIDES
(Congressman Hardy of Texas)

Mr Chairman the proposition is a temptation hard for some people to induce them to depart from the principles they have cherished all their lives I let me say in answer to the gentleman who said that protection had made this country prosperous and low tariff had ruined our business and brought disaster that it is strange that the same medicine has had such opposite effect on other countries. They have a high tariff in Japan and yet the protectionists call Japan a country of pauper labor

The gentleman from Michigan the other day named a number of countries in the Old World which had higher tariffs than we He did this when he was refuting the idea that the prohibitory duties and provisions of this law would provoke retaliation against us and cripple us in our efforts to find foreign markets for our products But now he and those with him refer to those countries as cheap labor countries with whom we can not compete

A high tariff is levied by Germany and nobody ever dreamed of the prosperity in Germany that we have here A high tariff is levied by France yet France is a low-wage country Italy is a high-tariff but very poor and low-wage country The truth of the business is that the prosperity of this country has been in spite of the tariff and because among our hundred millions of industrious people here there has been absolute free interchange of products Never in the history of the world has there been anywhere at any time so great an aggregation of virile people who enjoyed absolute and unrestricted freedom of interchange of the products of their labor If Europe should ever profit by our example and tear down the tariff walls between her states as we tore down the tariff walls between our states when we framed our constitution, her peoples would be all the more prosperous

But I want to discuss now this question of hides This country today even under this bill will have left one blessing, and that is free leather products free shoes, free harness free things made of leather that the farmers and the people generally all over the United States will use

But we are warned that if we put a duty on hides back goes the duty on shoes and leather products of all kinds and where I have a population in my county of 80 000 inhabitants there are probably 800 of them who would get a modicum of benefit if there is any increase in price caused by the tariff on hides, while there are 55 000 of them who would receive no benefit We might possibly receive from the increased price of hides $1 500 for the whole county and yet James G Blaine years ago said that the duty on hides would add to the cost of shoes from 5 to 8 per cent and 80 000 people in my county would pay 5 per cent more on all their leather goods that we wear because of the compensatory duty that will be added to the finished product when we put hides on the dutiable list Let me read you what Mr Blaine said April 10, 1890, in a letter to William McKinley

Dear Mr McKinley It is a great mistake to take hides from the free list, where they have been for so many years It will benefit the farmer by adding 5 to 8 per cent to the price of his children's shoes

Mr Blaine knew what the compensatory duty would add to the price of shoes. But that is not all The gentleman from Kansas (Mr Tincher) a moment ago said that 50 per cent of the leather products of this country were exported To be accurate, he said 44 per cent of them are exported Now if you put this duty on hides, not only will it be followed by a compensatory duty on leather products now on the free list but the drawback comes into play What happens? Your exporters your packers who both import the hides and tan them into leather when they export the leather and its products go to the treasury and get a drawback of 99 per cent of all of the tariff they have paid so that, knowing that all the tariff paid would be refunded to them when they exported leather, I doubt if it would interfere at all with their imports or benefit any small cattle growers at all

The men who import the hides could go to the treasury of the United States when they exported 44 per cent of all the leather made in this country which is more than all the leather made of imported hides and get a drawback of 99 per cent of the tax that they have paid and the treasury would be out more expense in levying and collecting the tax first and then repaying it next than if they left hides on the free list Yet Mr Manufacturer holds on to his compensatory duty and raises the price of shoes You do not help the treasury you do not help the farmer but you give an excuse to put shoes back on the tax list and you give an excuse and the opportunity and the power to increase the price of every product of hides in every form of leather that is manufactured by the manufacturers in this country You must get up mighty early in the morning if you are going to get the better of the manufacturer He protects himself against protection He has taken the motto He that provideth not for his own house is worse than an infidel to heart and is never guilty of infidelity or weak in the faith and every man who has advocated a duty on hides except one says that he will vote to put a compensatory duty on the finished product

Gentlemen must know if they know anything about the history of tariff legislation, that when you put a duty on raw materials you always put a compensatory duty on the finished products There never has been an exception in all the history of the tariff since the doctrine of compensatory duty was first discovered It is always added My friend may wish to put a duty on the raw material and then kick when it comes to a compensatory duty but if he knows anything he knows that his kick will be helpless and useless because a compensatory duty comes just as sure on top of a duty on raw material as that the sunrise follows the sunset

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

CITIZEN CALLS ATTENTION TO LACK OF FORETHOUGHT

Editor of The Times

Some people of an inquiring turn of mind are wondering why the city is tearing up the pavement that the citizens and property owners have paid to put down, for the purpose of putting in sewer and water mains They can't understand why these ditches were not dug and provisions for these pipes were not made before the pavement was put down and save this enormous expense of tearing up the pavement and repairing it again, thereby injuring the pavement in addition to the cost to the taxpayers

The only reason that has been advanced is the old adage, 'Let every day provide for itself' has been adopted by the city government An other might be offered and that is to do one thing at a time

The answer to the first reason offered is that the action of the first day makes too expensive for the second day

The answer to the second reason is that in building it is best always to put in the foundation first and not wait to tear up the building after completed to put in the foundation

These same people (all common people) would like to know how it is that the country is at such great expense—when work stops on the building of the county roads Certainly the contract does not provide the payments to go on when the work stops If that is true there is not much in the contract to stimulate the contractors to keep at work—unless he gets more when at work than when he is not Would it not be a good idea to have the contract published so as common people would have a chance to know what is going on any way

The History of Your Name

MCORMACK

Variations—McCormick, McCormac
Racial Origin—Irish
Source—A given name

If you know that each is the Irish word for chariot you have the whole solution of the origin of the family name of McCormack

If a literal analysis of the name were permissible, you would divide it something like this mac-cor(b)-mac And substituting the English words you have son chariot son A more free translation would bring out the meaning descendant of a charioteer son

But while the literal translation of the name may be very interesting it is not strictly accurate as a history of its development into a surname

Like virtually all Irish family names it originated as an explanation of parentage rather than as a description of occupation personal characteristic or locality of residence Cormac was a very popular given name among the ancient Irish Indeed it is widespread today It is a name closely associated with the historical legends of the "Green Isle" and was borne by so many chieftains and kings that it is not possible to trace all the Cormacs back to a single progenitor and his organization of Fill were as is the case in a great many of the Irish and Scottish family names

A daughter Muirne (Moina) of one of the ancient Cormacs is particularly famous in legend by reason of a little to the death staged by two rivals for her hand Unfortunately the warrior of the lady's secret choice failed to win and when the sorely spent victor threw himself at her feet she seized his sword and slew him

The Thing Accomplished

If you would know the depth of satisfaction
Or come to feel a sense of proper pride
You must be watchful of your every action
And till the task be done not turn aside

Though humble be your duty and your station
Fill it with credit, not with sham or bluff,
Give it your best and spurn the explanation
That poor endeavor may be good enough

Seek not in words of praise from men who flatter
For true contentment—it is never there
Be your own judge and let the thoughts matter
You know your work and it is false or fair

Remember this and be no vain regretter
In little things man meets his strongest test
Be not content with work that you could better
The humblest tasks deserving of your best

You need not fear the future Men shall find you
No matter where you toil or where you dwell
If ever time you leave a task behind you
You know yourself that you have done it well

HUMANISMS
Inner Lights on Lives and Whims of Personages in the Public Eye

By WILLIAM ATHERTON DU PUY

The Hon Richard Ballinger who used to be secretary of the interior under President Taft met an old friend on the street in Washington the other day and was so full of chuckles as to arose that individual's curiosity

Ballinger had just been looking in a book store window and there he had seen a letter exhibited and offered for sale for the modest price of $.5

The letter was written in the true hand of Mr Taft while president and it roundly denounced the individual to whom it was addressed for selling to tourists facsimilies of the signature of the writer

And now the denunciation was being offered for sale

The work of the scientist does not always have to do with chemical reactions and the juggling of multisyllabic Latin names

Take the apple crop for instance and the man who saved that part of it which grows in the west It was not "sugratory science, but figuring out how to get a drop of liquid under the leaf that saved it

Dr Elmer Darwin Ball who is now assistant secretary of agriculture did the job

Apple growers in the east protected their apple trees pretty well by spraying them with an insecticide But out west the coddle moths were too thick to be exterminated in this way

The end of the apple where the bloom had been was its vulnerable part No matter how often the trees were sprayed the worms crawled in here and spoiled the apples

To get the insecticide back of the leaf like fiber at the end of the apple so the worm would get it when he crawled in—that was the job It was a small task of a microscopic nature The liquid must be shot harder and at the end of the apple where the bloom had been

So Dr Ball rigged up a more vigorous spraying device and shot the liquid from the direction from which the fruit got its light for it always pointed its blossom end that way

He got the poison where it did the work and thus saved the apple crop of half the nation

MASONIC SPEAKER URGES MEMBERS TO WORK AGAINST KLAN

GRAND MASTER RANDELL SAYS KU KLUX IS BASED ON WRONG PRINCIPLES

DELIVERS TWO ADDRESSES AT MEETING THURSDAY

Explains Working of Service Association Recently Formed to Promote Americanism.

"Such organizations as the Ku Klux Klan are irresponsible illegal and un Masonic This is a time when every Mason ought to be exerting his best influence on behalf of law and order not against it There may be men in these organizations whose motives are worthy but no man who has a worthy thing to accomplish needs to cover his face with a hood and go out in the darkness of night to do it

Andrew L. Randell grand master of Texas Masons, thus expressed Thursday night the attitude of Texas Free Masonry against the mysterious organizations who are making their presence felt in so many Texas communities

Mr Randell said that in some communities the name of Masonry was being linked with that of the other organization of which he spoke He urged his hearers to do nothing that would tend to mar the institution of Masonry in such a way

Some day there will be a bill to pay for these outrages he said and I don't intend that Masonry shall have to pay it

This feature of Mr Randell's address Thursday night was but one of the many that made the several hundred Masons present feel that they had seldom in their lives enjoyed two hours to better advantage

Mr Randell's lecture dealt largely with the purposes and work of the Masonic Service Association of Texas an organization started on November 11 1918 Armistice day It is planned as a national body to unite the efforts of the various state grand lodges each of which is supreme in its own jurisdiction Mr Randell spoke Thursday night of the need for such a Masonic organization and he dealt particularly with the subject of Americanization as one to which Masons should give their thought attention and effort

Mr Randell spoke at the Masonic temple in the afternoon and at the First M E church at night only Masons being admitted at the latter meeting At 6 30 o'clock a buffet supper was served at the temple

Several hundred local Masons attended the meeting in addition to a large number of visiting brothers from other points in the Wichita Falls district P B Cox was toastmaster Thursday night and spoke Mr Randell when the latter rested between portions of his lecture

THE RED-HEADED LEAGUE

By A. CONAN DOYLE

Copyright, 1921, by Harper & Bros. Published by special arrangement with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The story thus far

Mr Jabez Wilson a stolid stout red headed man a free mason who has been in China visits Holmes for the purpose of obtaining help He gives Holmes and Watson a clipping asking them to read it

It is dated two months before it says that there is a vacancy in the Red-headed League at a salary of four pounds a week Wilson says he is a pawnbroker whose business of late years has been a small one He has only one assistant a quick and reliable young man named Vincent Spaulding whose only fault is that he is always taking photographs and running to the cellar to develop his plates Wilson is a widower without a family and a girl of fourteen keeps his place clean and does a little cooking Spaulding told Wilson of the vacancy in the league and suggested that Wilson with his fiery red hair apply Wilson did with Spaulding, and was accepted out of scores and scores of men by the manager of the league

This man, Mr Duncan Ross, was disappointed to find Wilson not a man with a family However Wilson set to work His duties consisted only in copying the Encyclopedia Britannica for four hours a day If he left the office in those hours he would lose his appointment. He worked comfortably without interruption, at the job for eight weeks That morning he found a placard on the office door saying the Red headed League was dissolved He went to a forwarding address left by the manager but found that he was not known there His assistant suggested that he wait until he should hear from the manager but Wilson had come to Holmes for help

Holmes inquired about Spaulding Wilson said he worked for half wages was small quick with a hairless face and had holes punched by a gipsy in his ears Holmes said he would give an opinion on the case shortly Later he and Watson went to look at the pawnshop in Saxe Coburg Square and Holmes saw the assistant on pretext of asking the way to the Strand which he quickly gave Then they investigated the better-class street next to the square Then he went to a concert, and forgot his professional worries

PART FIVE

You want to go home no doubt doctor' he remarked as we emerged

Yes it would be as well

And I have some business to do which will take some hours This business at Coburg Square is serious"

Why serious?

A considerable crime is in contemplation I have every reason to believe that we shall be in time to stop it but today being Saturday rather complicates matters Shall I want your company at ten at what time?

Ten will be early enough

I shall be at Baker street at ten

Very well And I say doctor there may be some little danger so kindly put your army revolver in your pocket He waved his hand turned on his heel and disappeared in an instant among the crowd

I trust that I am not more dense than my neighbors but I was always impressed with a sense of my own stupidity in my dealings with Sherlock Holmes Here I had heard what he had and I had seen what he had seen and yet from his words it was evident that he saw clearly not only what had happened but what was about to happen while to me the whole business was still involved in mystery and grotesque As I drove home to my house in Kensington I thought over it all from the extraordinary story of the red headed copier of the Encyclopedia down to the visit to Saxe Coburg Square and the ominous words with which he had parted from me What was this nocturnal expedition and why should I go armed? Where were we going and what were we to do? I had hoped from Holmes that this sleek-faced pawnbroker's assistant was a formidable man—a man who might prove a deep game I tried to puzzle it out, but gave it up in despair, and set the matter aside until night should bring an explanation

It was a quarter past nine when I started from home and made my way across the park and so through Oxford street to Baker street Two hansoms were standing at the door and as I entered the passage I heard the sound of voices from above On entering the room I found Holmes in animated conversation with two men, one of whom I recognized as Peter Jones the official police agent while the other was a long thin sad-faced man with a very shiny hat and oppressively respectable frock coat

"Ha! our party is complete" said Holmes buttoning up his pea jacket and taking his heavy hunting crop from the rack Watson I think you know Mr Jones of Scotland Yard? Let me introduce you to Mr Merryweather who is to be our companion in tonight's adventure

We're hunting in couples again, doctor you see said Jones in his consequential way "Our friend here is a wonderful man for starting a chase All he wants is an old dog to help him do the running down

I hope a wild goose may not prove to be the end of our chase observed Mr Merryweather gloomily

You may place considerable confidence in Mr Holmes sir said the police agent loftily He has his own little methods which are if he won't mind my saying so just a little too theoretical and fantastic but he has the instincts of a detective in him It is not too much to say that once or twice as in that business of the Sholto murder and the Agra treasure he has been more nearly correct than the official force

Oh if you any so Mr Jones it is all right said the stranger with deference Still I confess that I miss my rubber It is the first Saturday night for seven and twenty years that I have not had my rubber

I think you will find" said Sherlock Holmes that you will play for a higher stake tonight than you have ever done yet and that the play will be more exciting For you Mr Merryweather the stake will be some £30 000 and for you Jones it will be the man upon whom you wish to lay your hands"

I hope sir the murderer thief forgerer and forger He's a young man Mr Merryweather but he is at the head of his profession and I would rather have my bracelets on him than on any criminal in London He's a remarkable man is young John Clay His grandfather was a royal duke and he himself has been to Eton and Oxford His brain is as cunning as his fingers and though we meet signs of him at every turn we never know where to find the man himself He'll crack a crib in Scotland one week and be raising money to build an orphanage in Cornwall the next I've been on his track for years and have never set eyes on him yet

I hope that I may have the pleasure of introducing you tonight I've had one or two little turns also with Mr John Clay and I agree with you that he is at the head of his profession It is past ten however and quite time that we started If you take the first hansom Watson and I will follow in the second

Sherlock Holmes was not very communicative during the long drive and lay back in the cab humming the tunes which he had heard in the afternoon We rattled through an endless labyrinth of gas lit streets until we emerged into Farringdon street

We are close there now my friend remarked This fellow Merryweather is a bank director and personally interested in the matter I thought it as well to have Jones with us also He is not a bad fellow though a_ absolute in his profession _ positive virtue He is as brave as a bulldog and as tenacious as a lobster if he gets his claws upon any one Here we are and they are waiting for us

We had reached the same crowded thoroughfare in which we had found ourselves in the morning Our cabs were dismissed and following the guidance of Mr Merryweather we passed down a narrow passage and through a side door which he opened for us Within there was a small corridor which ended in a very massive iron gate This also was opened and led down a flight of winding stone which terminated at another formidable gate Mr Merryweather stopped to light a lantern and then conducted us down a dark earth-smelling passage and so after opening a third door into a huge vault or cellar which was piled all round with crates and massive boxes

You are not very vulnerable from above Holmes remarked as he held up the lantern and gazed about him

Nor from below said Mr Merryweather striking his stick upon the flags which lined the floor Why dear me it sounds quite hollow he remarked looking up in surprise

I must really ask you to be a little more quiet said Holmes severely You have already imperiled the whole success of our expedition Might I beg that you would have the goodness to sit down upon one of those boxes and not to interfere"

The solemn Mr Merryweather perched himself upon a crate with a very injured expression upon his face while Holmes fell upon his knees upon the floor and with the lantern and magnifying lens began to examine minutely the crack between the stones A few seconds sufficed to satisfy him for he sprang to his feet again, and put his glass in his pocket

We have at least an hour before us he remarked for they can hardly take any steps until the good pawnbroker is safely in bed Then they will not lose a minute for the sooner they do their work the longer time they will have for the escape We are at present deep in the_ no doubt you have divined—in the cellar of the city branch of one of the principal London banks Mr Merryweather is the chairman of directors and he will explain to you that there are reasons why the more daring criminals of London should take a considerable interest in this cellar at present

It is our French gold whispered the director We have had several warnings that an attempt might be made upon it

Your French gold?

Yes We had occasion some months ago to strengthen our resources and borrowed for that purpose 30 000 napoleons from the Bank of France It has been known that we have never had occasion to unpack the money and it is still lying in our cellar I_ the_ which I_ contains 9 000 napoleons packed between layers of lead foil Our reserve of bullion is much larger at present than is usually kept in a single branch office and the directors have had misgivings upon the subject

Which were very well justified observed Holmes And now it is time that we arrange our little plans I expect that_ an hour matters will come to a head In the meantime Mr Merryweather we must put the screen over that dark lantern

And sit in the dark?

I am afraid so I had brought a pack of cards in my pocket and I thought that as we were_ you might have your rubber after all But I see that the_ spirit is gone so far that we cannot risk the presence of a light And first of all we must choose our positions These_ are_ and_ we_ at_ a_ disadvantage they_ do_ us some harm unless we are careful I shall stand behind this crate and you can conceal yourselves behind those Then when I flash a light upon them close in swiftly If they_ Watson have no_ pistol_ shooting_ down

SHERIFF'S FORCE ANSWERS CRIES OF HELP FROM JAIL

Members of the sheriff's force late Thursday afternoon made a hurried run to the county jail and set themselves for a restful little.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Wilson acted as jailer Thursday afternoon. He had gone into the jail office with an all pass key. He found that the key failed to open the doors when he started back down and called out of the window to have someone come up and open the doors.

The prisoners on the third floor saw the setting for a practical joke and immediately started a noise and had one of their number call loudly for help.

The sheriff's force at once conceived the idea that the jailer was in the clutches of the prisoners and with guns on their hips started into the jail to find conditions much more calm than was expected.

Russian "Agent" Well Entertained as Good Prospect

CHICAGO July 22—A city to be located near Miles Mich, and inhabited by more than 20,000 Hebrews was revealed today as another scheme promoted by Max Schallman self styled representative of soviet Russia who is under arrest here for alleged violation of the espionage act.

He had let contracts for the construction work to the Lauer Construction company according to A. G. Gates its general manager who said his company had spent $500 on Schallman on the strength of the anticipated contract.

Representatives of other firms assert thousands of dollars have been spent on schallman on the strength of contracts they expected to get from him as the Russian agent.

EXPERIMENTS CONVINCE BATTLESHIPS MUST BE PROTECTED FROM BOMBS

NOFOLK VA July 22—With the former dreadnaught Ostfriesland at the bottom of the Atlantic as a result of one ton aerial bombs exploded alongside of her naval experts of this and other countries will turn their attention to the problem of protecting the capital ships from this form of attack.

Since present day aircraft can carry bombs containing more than three times the amount of T N T enclosed in a torpedo or the larger mines, high naval officers who observed the bombing of the Ostfriesland off the Virginia capes yesterday lean to the view that the solution lies in keeping control of the air.

The construction of a hull which will weather explosions alongside of such force was regarded as practically impossible.

Naval men expect to learn many lessons from the bombing tests conducted during the month with former German warships as targets. Careful study was made of the effect of the explosions on shipboard of the various types of bombs up to 1 100 pounds and some changes in future construction are expected to result.

One possibility suggested was that an armored deck on the top of the hull in addition to that just below the water line.

DEFEAT OF HIDE SCHEDULE WAS NOT A SURPRISE TO ADVOCATES OF MEASURE

WASHINGTON June 22—Defeat of the hide schedule in the tariff bill by a vote of 239 to 174 on roll call Thursday afternoon was not unlook for by advocates of this provision. The refusal of the house to authorize a reciprocal duty on shoes and leather goods made it probable that the action of the committee in placing a duty on raw hides by a vote of 152 to 97 would be repudiated.

Texans voting against the duty on hides on roll call were Black Box Briggs Connally Garrett Linham Sanders Rayburn and Summers.

Those supporting the duty were Buchanan Garner Jones, Mansfield Parrish and Wurzbach.

There was no test vote on the oil schedule which the committee of the whole had eliminated from the bill.

DR. KNICKERBOCKER WILL SPEAK SUNDAY NIGHT ON "THE MOST TRAGIC MOMENT"

"Recollections of your boyhood days and manhood's dangers" said Dr Knickerbocker to a Times reporter will no doubt be suggested by my subject Sunday night, which is The Most Tragic Moment in Your Life. I know that my own experience holds some very startling memories. The subject is one I guarantee will keep the wide-awake interest of the congregation. These services in the open air are drawing the largest crowds we have ever had in the summer time. Music is popular and the freedom of the service and of the surroundings makes it possible for scores to bring their whole families which they do.

"At 9 30 a m at the Olympic theatre which by the way is cool and pleasant I speak to my big men's class on the subject Who is the Most Important Man in the Community" At 11 a m at the church my subject will be "Is the Bible a Man Made Book" The old fashioned Methodist idea was that the Bible was practically perfect, and could be relied upon as an absolute authority from kiver to kiver. Modern scholarship has raised a question concerning this old fashioned theory. We will discuss that question in this discourse.

All the services about sixty minutes long. Sunday school is holding up remarkably in its attendance being double what it was a year ago.

CAMPBELL DECLARES HE DID NOT RECEIVE BERGDOLL'S MONEY

DENIES CHARGE MADE BY THE MOTHER OF NOTED DRAFT EVADER.

QUESTIONED REGARDING DEPOSIT WITH BROKER

Explains That It Was Profit on Real Estate Deal Handled by Friend Of Family.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Denial of the charge that he accepted $5,000 from Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll to aid Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft evader, to escape was made today by Major Bruce R. Campbell of the army before a house investigating committee.

"Mrs. Bergdoll's charge is false in every particular," Major Campbell said. "There is not a word of truth in it."

Asked about a deposit of $1,500 with a New York brokerage firm about the time Mrs. Bergdoll swore she gave him the money, Major Campbell said: "I can tell the committee right now where I got the money, but I may want time to produce evidence corroborating what I have to say."

The money, deposited with Wassermann Bros., the major said, was a joint account with Laura B. Campbell, his wife.

Pressed to give the source of the money, Campbell said he had been paid a cash sum from the sale of real estate.

"There was absolutely no connection between the money Mrs. Bergdoll said she paid me and the deposit I made with Wassermann Bros," the major said.

"The old woman lied when she said she gave me $5,000 to hand to Grover. She did not give me a cussed copper."

In the heat of a cross-fire with Representative Goodykoontz, republican, Indiana, Major Campbell said he had placed $500 with Col. Milton Young of Lexington, Ky., in 1915 and that the investment jumped to $6,000, Colonel Young, he added, is dead.

"The money was paid to me in 1917," he added, "by a man who is alive and whose name I will not give. Altogether, my wife and I had $24,500 in banks, real money."

"How the fund increased," Major Campbell said, "I don't know. It may be that Colonel Young, a close friend of my father, gave me $5,000 on the investment. This same money was kept in cash through the war and deposited with Wassermann Bros. in 1920."

"Why did you not tell this at first?" Chairman Peters demanded.

"I did not want to bring family matters in," the witness replied.

"Who was the man who delivered the money?" Mr. Peters insisted.

"I'll give you his name later—oh, hell, it was my father," the witness said. "I wired him to come to Washington."

WASHINGTON, July 22. — Major Bruce R. Campbell, accused by Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll of having accepted $5,000 to aid her slacker son to escape, appeared before a house investigating committee today and asked for a preliminary executive session.

In denying the charges and declaring he desired the fullest publicity Major Campbell said he wanted to present first names of witnesses he wished called but did not want printed at this time.

"I came here just as soon as I could," the major said, "and it was a frightful misfortune that I was not here when the charges against me were presented."

The committee ordered the room cleared.

Cashier Is Fooled by Trick One Time, Arrest Follows

An old short change trick which, police declare, was a favorite pastime of the light fingered gentry years ago, was uncovered in this city Friday afternoon when a man was arrested on complaint of a local cafe owner. The prisoner worked the scheme successfully on the cashier at the same cafe, Thursday, it is said, and returned to try it over again. The owner, however, was familiar with the trick and refused to be caught.

The stunt consists in presenting a ten dollar bill in payment for a small meal check, which in this case happened to be [illegible] cents. He received back a $5 bill, four $1 bills and 80 cents in change and after pocketing the latter expressed surprised at having offered the tenner, at the same time drawing a $1 bill from his pocket, laying it with the four other ones and shoving them over the counter with the request that he be given a ten dollar bill in exchange.

The five spot bill by this time found its way into the man's pocket, and the cashier, thinking it was at the bottom of the pile of ones, passed over the ten. By the time she had counted out the bills the customer was gone, with a profit of $5.

According to officials, the trick is an old one and can be worked nine times out of ten by an experienced crook, especially during a rush hour when the cashier must work at top speed.

This is the first time it has ever been brought to the attention of the local police.

Police Believe Writer of "Klan" Letter Is Known

The threatening letter received last Wednesday by a local man in which he was ordered by a supposed Ku Klux Klan to leave the city within four days was a hoax, police officials declared Friday afternoon. The letter was actually received and was signed with the mystic seal of the K. K. K., but the author of the missive is believed to be known to the police, who state that he was a personal enemy of the recipient.

What action will be taken, if any, in case the identity of the writer is established beyond doubt is not known, but in view of recent developments city officials are confident that no Ku Klux organization yet exists in Wichita Falls.

No one has appeared for police protection aside from the one man threatened earlier in the week.

DECISION IN CASE OF GOV. SMALL TUESDAY

Judge Thus Informs Those Who Were Waiting For Ruling On Plea Today.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., July 22.—Whether Governor Len Small, indicted by a Sangamon county grand jury for the embezzlement of interest on state funds while state treasurer, is immune from arrest, is to be decided by Judge E. S. Smith of the Sangamon county circuit court.

Governor Small's attorneys advised him to resist arrest on the grounds that he would violate the constitution and betray the people by submitting.

Addressing newspaper men who gathered in his court room when he reconvened court shortly after 2 p. m. today, Judge Smith said:

"I may as well tell you that there will be nothing done in the case in which you all appear to be interested until Tuesday morning."

No attempts to arrest Governor Small can be made before next week as a result of the judge's action in postponing all further action until next Tuesday morning. With the exception of Lieutenant Governor Sterling's appearance this morning to file bond the status of the cases against the governor, lieutenant governor and Vernon Curtis remained unchanged today.

GET DEPOSITION IN HOLD-UP ON HIGHWAY

Was That of Former Mistress of Mishawun Manor in Celebrated Case.

HAVERHILL, MASS., July 22.—The robbery in a road holdup of a deposition obtained from "Brownie" Kennedy, former mistress of Mishawum Manor, for use by Attorney General Allen in the supreme court proceedings looking to the removal of District Attorney Tufts, was reported to local police early today. The report was made by Thomas J. Holmes, an agent of the attorney general, who said that he and George Keiley of Wakefield were held at Gun Point in Methuen.

The Mishawum Manor case, in connection with which the attorney general has sought a deposition from "Brownie" Kennedy, has been a center of popular interest and of judicial consideration in the charges on which Mr. Allen has based a petition for the ousting of District Attorney Tufts' removal. It is based on a party at Mishawum Manor, a Woburn road house of which "Brownie" Kennedy was the head, in March, 1917, attended by Hiram Abrams, Adolph Zukor, Jesse Lasky and others prominent in the motion picture world. The attorney general alleges that District Attorney Tufts entered into a conspiracy with certain attorneys and others by which, under threats of prosecution, $150,000 was extorted from them motion picture magnates. A deposition by Abrams was presented last week to show that he paid approximately that amount in several installments.

The whereabouts of "Brownie" Kennedy has been understood to be in doubt for several months.

NOT OF IMPORTANCE SAYS ATTORNEY GENERAL ALLEN

Entire Available Balloon Supply of City Is Stolen

If a circus day should suddenly descend on Wichita Falls it would find the city in a rather deplorable condition for the 50 gross of those indescribably [illegible] balloons, [illegible] were stolen Thursday night.

The lot represented the larger portion of the city's visible supply of such articles according to a clerk, and the worst of it is that little hopes are entertained of recovering the property. They were taken from the store room of the Wichita Candy company, [illegible] block Ohio avenue, and [illegible] bond Friday which would throw no light on the identity of the thieves.

CAN'T SIT ON PORCH SMOKING CIGARETTES

Morgan Says Law Will Be Strictly Enforced In Flats—Won't Molest Those Who Behave.

The days of the Wichita Falls flat dwellers are numbered.

This information was given out Friday by Chief of Police R. L. Morgan after a term of investigation through the section commonly known as the flats or tenements.

"We are going to enforce the laws of Wichita Falls while police force is under the chief said, "and we aren't going to give any time about it."

He then went on to state that he has no wish now living in the flats behaved themselves properly they won't be molested by officers but as soon as they showed themselves to be bad boys in the past there would be trouble with a big T. Their practice of sitting on front porches half undressed and smoking cigarettes, will not be tolerated, Morgan declared, he will then "open house" campaign for them of questionable character is permitted.

Only one woman has thus far moved back into the flats since the new police administration took office, according to Morgan who also declares that so far he has been able to learn no others are planning on returning.

"If they do," he said, "we have plenty of room to get them. The worst case women will be watched especially close.

A query as to what sort case women are brought forth the information that they were of the transient variety who lived, or rather boarded, in one city until ejected by police or two whereupon they moved to some other locality where the process was repeated.

Several women now living in the district east of the tracks own their own homes and these will not be molested, Morgan states, as long as they "behave themselves." Practically all of the trouble between the flats and the Bailey-Huff regime was caused, however, by women who owned their homes.

Miss Jennie Robertson of 1810½ Tenth street leaves Saturday for a two weeks visit in Sherman as the guest of Mrs. D. H. Graves.

DRESS

: : By ANNE RITTENHOUSE : :

The Frock That Carries Its Own Wrap Is a Strong Fashion of the Season and Though It Makes for Extravagance It Assuredly Gives Satisfaction The Economist Can Find Ways and Means to Achieve It

The woman who spends a moderate allowance on clothes turns with indifference from the new suggestion that every frock should carry its own wrap this season She believes that such extravagance is beyond her purse and environment

There are some economists who combat this belief with the argument that a woman of slender means should dress as much in one color as possible which gives her a chance to produce a wrap suitable for each gown

Loose a tricorn wrap of dark blue serge embroidered with white braid which goes over dark blue taffeta frock Hat is blue and white striped silk

It takes self-control to continue to dress in one color That's sure It demands the same repression of impulse and desire as eating one kind of food to get thin The doctors say that such a trick is a sure method of reducing and restraining flesh One dish at each meal even if repeated will keep one alive and thin But the organism of a human being requires a variety of food therefore it is better to eat a little of several foods at each meal than to eat well of a single food So there you are You can take your choice

What is true of food is true of clothes One can be economical and individual by restraining any natural impulse to buy more than one color for the wardrobe but the process is monotonous, the result depressing

There are ways however of keeping to one color in a general way in each season's purchase This is the wisest plan for the average woman as it assures her that she can utilize all of her clothes, all of the time If she has chosen a special color with due regard for her coloring and figure she is assured of looking her best in any garment she wears The range of colors that one woman can wear is limited It's a pity she does not realize it

When she chooses to live according to this scale of dressing she finds that it is not entirely impossible to produce a wrap for each gown She realizes if she has any knowledge of good dressing that it is not easy to add any kind of a covering to a frock Even the best top coat or cape may be out of the question with a certain type of gown and it is because of this fact that the alleged usefulness of one colored top coat for all garments proves a boomerang Women imagine themselves economical when they purchase a dark brown top coat They are in error

The sketch shows the way in which an economical woman chooses a frock and coat that harmonize She chooses to wear dark blue in many forms The selection of a separate cape with sleeves made of dark blue serge and braided in white is justified by the several dark blue gowns and hats she possesses

It is well by the way to take seriously this new fashion of using quantities of white braid on a dark surface It is lavish on frocks hats and coats White embroidery on a black surface black embroidery on white surface are equally in fashion They only give way to braid when the material is heavy although there is a remarkably good gown being worn about town which is of thin black Georgette trimmed with many bands of broad black silk braid It defies standards with success

Something To Think About

The Five Most Interesting Places in the World

By F. A. WALKER

A METROPOLITAN newspaper recently featured the photographs of the five most interesting things seen in a trip around the world

They were as follows The Great Wall of China a group of figures outside a Buddhist temple to frighten away evil spirits the house boats on the canal at Canton China the ancient instruments in the astronomical conservatory at Pekin, the bank of the Nile near Cairo where according to local tradition the daughter of Pharaoh found the infant Moses in the bulrushes

The interests of this traveler were apparently confined largely to the Orient or else he traversed the most of his journey with his eyes shut, a fault common to a good many travelers

What are the five most interesting examples of the handiwork of man to be seen in a trip around the world? What are the five things most worth seeing and remembering?

What would interest one would not perhaps interest another and the list which is given below may not appeal to you even though it be an opinion compiled from the experiences of a dozen or more world travelers who discussed the interesting question

Here are the things which were in general agreed upon as the five things most worth seeing

The Taj Mahal at Agra in East India This is undoubtedly the most wonderful example of architecture in the world It was built by Shah Jehan to his favorite sultanna, Moomtaz Mahul and the romance of its building if you will take trouble to look it up in the library you will find extraordinarily interesting

The Vatican at Rome No building in the world houses so many unrepliacable treasures as the Vatican Its art riches its wealth of literary treasures exceeds in interest and in value any other single collection ever made

The Mount Wilson Observatory near Los Angeles California It is in this observatory that is housed the 100 inch Hooker telescope which pierces further into the unknown of space than any other instrument that human hands have devised One moment's look through that magnificent instrument would show you a new universe which before it was built had never been seen It is one of the scientific wonder spots of the world

Shakespeare's home at Stratford It was here that the master of all writers retired after he had finished the greatest contribution to literature ever written in any language or by any man It is an inspiration to stand where he had once stood to see some of the material things that were once his companions

The Panama Canal Undoubtedly the greatest example of man's engineering genius since the world began There may have been greater difficulties to surmount in the building of the pyramids but they are useless things not so wonderful now as a modern city skyscraper

All five of these things are the accomplishments of the brain of man Added to them the traveler around the world would wish to see those other and greater things that man has never equalled The falls at Niagara the Grand Canyon the mighty trees of California the great tides of Fundy the caverns at Luray the mountainous monuments of God in the Alps and the Himilayas, the supreme beauty of Lake Louise or the Bay of Naples

"What's In a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

LETTY.

ONE of the "glad" names is Letitia. It comes from the Latin adjective laetus meaning glad from which the substantive, "laetitia" was formed Whether ancient Rome underwent a "glad" period etymologists do not record, but the fact remains that Laetitia as a proper name was adopted by the fashionable maids and matrons of that by gone empire

Laetitia first made her appearance as Letizia a name favored by the Italians during the fashion for extreme novelty that prevailed in the Cinque Cento Spain adopted Letizia but the name reached England in the form of Lettice

In Ireland Lettice was extremely popular One famous bearer of the name was Lettice Knollys the wife of the Earl of Essex Letitia was evolved in Ireland and is still a favorite with Irish lassies though Letty the diminutive is by far the most popular form

The turquoise is Letitia's talismanic stone If set in gold it will protect her from all danger especially when traveling According to an old legend the stone will break at the approach of evil The best possible good luck is promised Letty if she can see the new moon reflected in the turquoise Saturday is her lucky day and her lucky number

Lyrics of Life

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TAKE A SONG ALONG.

When you take the road
At the dawn of day
When you lift your head
And are on your way
Just to keep you glad
And to make you strong
When the walking's hard
Take a song along

For the song you sing
As you trudge along
It is a better thing
Than the gold you own,
Is a better boon
When the world goes wrong—
All the year is June
With a song along

There is not a hill
That you cannot climb
If you have the thrill
Of a thought sublime
There is not a soul
In the crowding throng
But will find its goal
With a song along

LAST NIGHT'S DREAMS. WHAT THEY MEAN

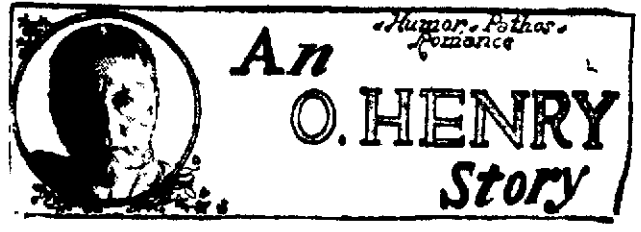
DID YOU DREAM OF BOWLS?

TO dream of a wash bowl is said by the oracles to be a sign of marriage in the near future Some of the mystic interpreters it is true consider that the bowl should be filled with water in order to insure the happy marriage or inheritance but most of them agree to consider that it does not matter whether the bowl is full or empty The general rule with regard to bowls of all sorts is however that it is better to dream of them filled with something

Any sort of a bowl in a dream is indicative of coming wealth or at least of an increase in the dreamer's fortune but if the bowls contain something the fortune will be greater and come sooner

A bowl of bread and milk is a fortunate thing to dream about as it indicates that the dreamer will achieve success by his own efforts and by strict attention to his business A bowl heaped high with fruit is an omen of coming good fortune, but there is not the same assurance of permanency in this dream as in the dream of a bowl of bread and milk though the chances are that the fortune will be greater than the one prognosticated by a dream of the simple fare

It is not considered to be a fortunate omen to dream of seeing a broken bowl but to dream of letting one fall so that it is shattered It is however thought by the mystics to be a rather favorable omen to dream of mending a broken bowl Some say that such a dream means long life



The Social Triangle

By O. HENRY

AT the stroke of six Ikey Snigglefritz laid down his goose Ikey toiled and snipped and basted and pressed and patched and sponged all day in the steamy factory of a tailor shop But when work was done Ikey pitched his wagon to such stars as his firmament let shine

It was Sunday night and the boss laid twelve begrimed and begrudged dollars in his hand Ikey set forth in pursuit of his ideals

Behold Ikey as he ambles up the street beneath the roaring El between the rows of reeking sweat shops Pallid stooping insignificant squalid doomed to exist forever in penury of body and mind yet as he swings his cheap cane and projects the noisome inhalations from his cigarette you perceive that he nurtures in his narrow bosom the bacillus of society

Ikey's legs carried him to and into that famous place of entertainment known as the Cafe Maginnis—famous because it was the rendezvous of Billy McMahan the greatest man the most wonderful man Ikey thought that the world had ever produced

Billy McMahan was the district leader Upon him the Tiger purred and his hand held manna to scatter Now as Ikey entered McMahan stood flushed and triumphant and mighty the center of a huzzain coursee of his lieutenants and constituents It seems there had been an election a signal victory had been swept back into line by a resistless besom of ballots

Ikey slunk along the bar and gazed breathlessly quickened at his idol

The Cafe Maginnis rang to the note of victory The white coated bartenders threw themselves fearlessly upon bottle cork and glass From a score of clear Havanas the air received its parallax of clouds The leal and the hopeful shook Billy McMahan's hand And there was born suddenly in the worshipful soul of Ikey Snigglefritz an audacious thrilling impulse

He stepped forward into the little cleared space in which majesty moved and held out his hand

Billy McMahan grasped it unhesitatingly shook it and smiled

Made mad now by the gods who were about to destroy him Ikey threw away his scabbard and charged upon Olympus

Have a drink with me Billy he said familiarly. You and your friends

I don't mind if I do old man said the great leader Just to keep the ball rolling

The last spark of Ikey's reason fled

Wine he called to the bartender waving a trembling hand

The corks of three bottles were drawn the champagne bubbled in the long row of glasses set upon the bar Billy McMahan took his and nodded with his beaming smile at Ikey The lieutenants and satellites took theirs and grinned Here's to you Ikey took his nectar in delirium All drank

Ikey threw his week's wages in a crumpled roll upon the bar

Correct said the bartender smoothing the twelve one dollar notes The crowd surged around Billy McMahan again Some one was telling how Brannigan fixed em over in the Eleventh Ikey leaned against the bar a while and then went out

He went down Hester street and up Chrystie and down Delancey to where he lived And there his women folk a bibulous mother and three dingy sisters pounced upon him for his wages And at his confession they shrieked and clawed him in the pithy rhetoric of the locality

But even as they plucked at him and struck him Ikey remained in his ecstatic trance of joy

He had shaken the hand of Billy McMahan

* * * * *

Billy McMahan had a wife and upon her visiting card was engraved the name Mrs William Darragh McMahan And there was a certain vexation attendant upon these circles for small as they were there were houses in which the card might be inserted Bill McMahan was a dictator in politics a four walled tower in business a mogul dreaded loved and hated among his own people He was growing rich the daily papers had a dozen men busy trail to chronicle his every word of wisdom he had been honored twice at a re holding the Tiger crouching in the leash

There was a brave and conspicuous assemblage in the limousine saloon of a hostelry where fashion loves to display her charms At one table sat Billy McMahan and his wife Mostly silent they were but the accessories they enjoyed little needed the indorsement of speech Mrs McMahan's diamonds were outshone by few in the room The waiter bore the costliest brands of wine to their table In evening dress with an expression of gloom upon his smooth and massive countenance you would look in vain for a more striking figure than Ikey

Four tables away sat alone a tall slender man about thirty with thoughtful melancholy eyes a Van Dyke beard and peculiarly white thin hands He was dining on filet mignon dry toast and apollinaris That man was Cortlandt Van Duyckink a man worth eighty millions who inherited and held a sacred seat in the exclusive inner circle of society

And then Bill McMahan conceived and accomplished the most startling and audacious act of his life He rose deliberately and sauntered over to Cortlandt Van Duyckink's table and held out his hand

Say Mr Van Duyckink he said, I've heard you was talking about starting some reforms among the poor people down in my district I'm McMahan you know Say, now if that's straight I'll do all I can to help you And what I say goes in that neck of the woods don't it Oh say I rather guess it does"

Van Duyckink's rather sombre eyes lighted up He rose to his lank height and grasped Billy McMahan's hard

Thank you Mr McMahan he said in his deep serious tones I have been thinking of doing some work of that sort I shall be glad of your assistance It pleases me to have become acquainted with you

Billy walked back to his seat His shoulder was a shade more the accolade bestowed by royalty A hundred eyes were now turned upon him in envy and new admiration Mrs William Darragh McMahan trembled with ecstacy so that her diamonds smote the eye almost with pain And now it was apparent that at many tables there were those who suddenly remembered that they enjoyed Mr McMahan's acquaintance He saw smiles and bows before him He became enveloped in the aura of fizzy greatness His campaign lines deserted him

Waiter for that same he commanded the waiter pointing with his finger Wine over there Wine for those three gents by that green lush Tell em it's on me D—n it! Wine for everybody

The waiter scurried to whisper that it was perhaps inexpedient to [illegible] consideration of the dignity of the house and its [illegible]

All right said Billy if it's against the rules I wonder if [illegible] to send my friend Van [illegible] Not? Well it will [illegible] all right at the cafy tonight, it's the same It'll be rubber boots for anybody who comes in there any time prior to a m

Billy McMahan was happy

He had shaken the hand of Cortlandt Van Duyckink

* * * * *

The big pale gray auto with its sleeping engine at work looked out of place as it rolled slowly along the push cars and trash heaps on the lower east side So did Cortlandt Van Duyckink with his aristocratic face and white hands as he steered carefully between the groups of raggedly roving youngsters in the streets And so did Miss Constance Schuyler who sat beside him as she listened at his side

Oh [illegible] she breathed [illegible] him in the gas [illegible] chained [illegible] them to give [illegible] to improve their condition

Van Duyckink tried his solemnest eyes upon her

It [illegible] he said [illegible] that [illegible] thrown [illegible] the rest [illegible] who is [illegible] down [illegible] lawn and there [illegible] others in the [illegible] of fire and lust

Down Delancey street crept the pale gray auto [illegible] from its [illegible] dilapidated [illegible] long tenement [illegible] faced [illegible] wished [illegible] crazy [illegible] lawyer

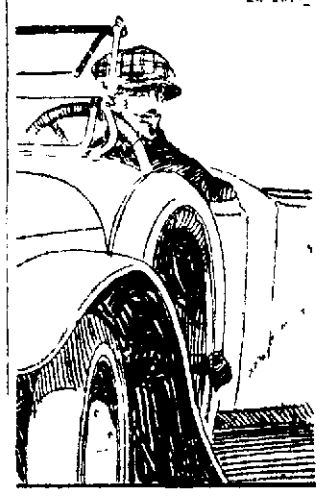
Van Duyckink [illegible] examined a letter [illegible] one of the leaning walls Down the steps of the building came a young man who seemed [illegible] degradation [illegible] and [illegible] a narrow-hested pale insane young man puffing at a cigarette

Giving a sudden impulse Van Duyckink stopped [illegible] and warmly grasped the hand of what seemed to be a young [illegible]

I want to know your people he said [illegible] I am going to help you as much as I can We shall be friends

As the auto crept carefully away Cortlandt Van Duyckink felt an increased glow about his heart He was near to being a happy man

He had shaken the hand of Ikey Snigglefritz



Down Delancey street crept the pale gray auto

DOROTHY DIX'S TALKS

By DOROTHY DIX THE WORLD'S HIGHEST PAID WOMAN WRITER

Acquiring a Sense of Humor

WE are in the way of thinking that a sense of humor comes by nature as Dogberry thought that knowing how to read and write did and that one was more responsible for not having a laugh that was hung in a hair trigger and went off at a touch than we are for not being born with a classical profile and naturally curly hair

Of course to arrive on this old earth with a protuberant funny bone is to be the darling of the gods for to have an intuitive sense of what someone has called the sweet absurdity of things is to have a magic that takes the sting out of misfortune and puts an extra kick into the cocktail of joy Nevertheless, if Fate has denied you this precious gift you need not despair You can acquire a sense of humor You can Burbank the sense of politeness into the rip roaring lion of hilarity

You don't believe it? You know too many glum people by the whose lips would crack if they tried to laugh You know many people who are hangers on of literature not but Russian novels and the deaths and accidents in the newspapers and who drink black tea and believe that the Judgment Day is at hand You know too many literary men and women upon whose head a surgical operation would have to be performed before you could insert a joke into their poor addled brains and you are convinced that they have to be born with a sense of humor instead of having their tenor voices You can't get it yourself

That is where we have made a mistake That's why there are many depressed and [illegible] who [illegible] in the world We have felt that if anyone didn't have a sense of humor [illegible] the point [illegible] was like the hell [illegible] and all we could do was to endure the poor afflicted creature with what patience we could We never dreamed of such a thing as trying to lift the curse from the victim

Yet it can be done as I am witness before and after the fact Among my friends is a soul mate who is wise as she is witty and who is equally filled with intuition and hard practical commonsense She married a widower who had a jovial and to all appearances little daughter nine years old whose only defect was that she had absolutely no sense of humor

She was as tone deaf to laughter as Trilby was to music With me made no more dent upon her understanding than a snowball would upon armor plate When people about her would roar over a funny story she would stare at them in pained wonder her keen little mind searching through the sea of talk to find the clue to the mystery of what amused her elders Humor is exaggeration was simply a lie to her Everything was built down literally to her

My [illegible] said each that I knew [illegible] the sep- [illegible] read the [illegible] I couldn't [illegible] her [illegible] like with a telegraph She has [illegible] sense [illegible] whatever

[illegible] her replied [illegible] let her [illegible] life I don't see how [illegible] have the courage [illegible] to [illegible] and in [illegible] is [illegible] I would [illegible] I heir [illegible] explain [illegible] dissected [illegible] well her where [illegible] and when [illegible] things were funny I was slow [illegible] list she opened [illegible] a sense of humor in the [illegible] bled [illegible] khaki and today [illegible] has an [illegible] an ex- [illegible] letter

[illegible] surpassed into other parents and teachers Don't [illegible] them you are responsible [illegible] a sense of humor [illegible] to as [illegible] up [illegible] need [illegible] treatment will say them

[illegible] is more than [illegible] It is [illegible] contrary [illegible] not down in those who [illegible] laughing after [illegible]

[illegible] people he in- [illegible] break [illegible] men [illegible] have the [illegible] men [illegible] to when things go [illegible] ness the women are hurtfully driven into [illegible] their children [illegible] who [illegible] of see- [illegible] The [illegible] and [illegible] sense of humor never [illegible] they always see [illegible] interesting and interest- [illegible] for me that [illegible] their luck [illegible]

Also a sense of humor will do [illegible] from making fools [illegible] than anything else It [illegible] have no appreciation of what a figure of fun the [illegible] us the bragging and the vain are that strut [illegible] When you can laugh at yourself you keep other people from laughing at you

A sense of humor keeps us humble and brave and cheerful It makes us easy to live with and pleasant company for our fellow creatures and for these and a thousand other reasons it is worth cultivating in ourselves and developing in our children

HOME MADE PETTICOATS

In making petticoats from any thin but quite heavy material it is a good plan to make a double gore so as to prevent transparency Skirts of frocks of fashionable skirts are as thin as [illegible] It is up to the petticoat to scatter prevent the sunshine from showing through

It is a simple matter to make petticoats at home A fitting piece pattern is perhaps the best This requires a front a back and two side gores There is no pocket hole the petticoat being slipped on over the head a drawstring or rubber fastening it around the waist

Washable satin in white or pastel shades is a good selection for the petticoat to wear beneath the organdie or other transparent cotton frock

The petticoat is usually made straight without any flounce Sometimes it is finished with large scallops at the bottom that are worked in hand buttonholing Again it is finished with a four or five inch hem which is finished by machine hemstitching

For the petticoat to be worn with a straight white petticoat of panama the sport skirt or gingham frock wide striped pique is an economical selection

Some economical women have petticoats to wear with [illegible] woolen frocks made of [illegible] finished at the bottom with machine hemstitched hem sometimes with a shallow flounce attached to the petticoat by means of a neat ruching

Many women have [illegible] eliminated petticoat from their wardrobes selecting instead slips that hang from the shoulder These provide camisole and petticoat in one and are scarcely in more trouble to make than petticoats They are usually finished at the shoulders with a ribbon strap They are especially desirable to wear under one piece frocks that would show any line where petticoat and camisole meet A rather quaint idea of some women is to have these slips made of fine gingham when worn under a dark frock or under suit and dark blouse For the rest they are made of mull lawn, washable satin or crepe de chine

5 IMPORTANT AMENDMENTS TO TEXAS CONSTITUTION WILL BE VOTED ON AT POLLS SATURDAY

Five proposed amendments to the constitution of Texas are to be voted on Saturday. All qualified voters are eligible to participate in the election. Boxes were distributed to all the polling places in the county Thursday.

Form of Ballot.

FOR THE amendment to Article 17 Section 58 of the Constitution abolishing the Board of Prison Commissioners.

AGAINST the amendment of Article 17 Section 58 of the Constitution abolishing the Board of Prison Commissioners.

Explanation of the Amendments.

This amendment proposes to establish the offices of the three penitentiary commissioners. It is believed a management can be provided that will be more efficient and less expensive than is the present system. A change may save taxes.

For the amendment to Sections 5 and 21 and 22 and 23 of Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of Texas providing for Compensation of Executive Officers.

AGAINST the amendment to Sections 5 and 21 and 22 and 23 of Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of Texas providing for Compensation of Executive Officers.

Salaries now paid the "executive officers are Governor $4 000 attorney general $4 000 treasurer comptroller and land commissioner each $2 500 secretary of state $2 000. They were fixed under the constitution of 1866—50 years ago—when living expenses duties and responsibilities of the officers were much less than now. About every salaried person but these has had a raise in pay since then. Under this proposed amendment the legislature could pay these executive officers not to exceed Governor $8 000 attorney general $7 500 treasurer comptroller land commissioner and secretary of state each $5 000 and no more but the legislature could pay them less. That proposed raise in those salaries is too small to increase the tax rate that the pro rata part of one who pays tax on $1 000 worth of property would be only one half of a cent or five cents on $10 000 worth.

FOR the amendment of Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution authorizing the Legislature to grant aid to Confederate soldiers, sailors and their widows who have been a resident of this State since January 1 1910.

AGAINST the amendment of Section 51 of Article 3 of the Constitution authorizing the Legislature to grant aid to Confederate soldiers, sailors and their widows.

If this proposed amendment to increase the amount of pensions for Confederate soldiers and their widows should be adopted, the tax rate would be increased from five cents to seven cents on the $100 worth of property. Soon these worthy people will pass away. Then this tax will not be collected. The question now is are we willing to increase their comforts a little while they live among us?

FOR the amendment to Section 24 of Article 3 of the Constitution relating to the mileage and per diem of members of the Legislature of the State of Texas.

AGAINST the amendment to Section 24 of Article 3 of the Constitution relating to the mileage and per diem of members of the Legislature of the State of Texas.

This amendment proposes to reduce the mileage or traveling expense of legislators to one half of what it now. Also proposes to pay them not to exceed $10 a day for a session of 120 days and $5 a day thereafter. The legislature could pay them less. They now get $5 a day for 60 days and $2 a day thereafter. They can neither complete necessary legislation within the 60 days nor pay their expenses with $2 a day. The records of the comptroller's office show that the legislature could under this amendment have a regular session of 120 days at $8 per day (their pay in 1866) for $19 201 81 less expense to the taxpayers than the one regular and four special sessions cost during the past two years. So much time is lost in organizing and adjourning these short sessions that it is believed more bad bills could be killed and the good bills made better in one regular session of 120 days than is now done in six many short expensive sessions. It is clear the tax rate would not have to be increased. This would mean a better condition for legislation with no tax increase in the tax rate and everybody agrees Texas needs it.

FOR the amendment to Section 2 of Article 6 of the Constitution of the State of Texas providing that only native born or naturalized citizens of the United States shall be qualified electors in this state and providing that either the husband or wife may pay the poll tax of the other and receive the receipt therefor and permitting the Legislature to authorize absentee voting.

AGAINST the amendment to Section 2 of Article 6 of the Constitution of the State of Texas providing that only native born or naturalized citizens of the United States shall be qualified electors in this state and providing that either the husband or wife may pay the poll tax of the other and receive the receipt therefor and permitting the Legislature to authorize absentee voting.

Under the present constitution foreigners are authorized to vote as soon as they declare their intention to become citizens. If this proposed amendment should be adopted they must become fully naturalized before they can be authorized to vote.

Also at present all voters in towns of more than ten thousand people must get their poll tax receipt in person. If this proposed amendment should be adopted either the husband or wife could pay the poll tax and get the receipt for the other regardless of residence.

Also if this proposed amendment should be adopted the legislature could authorize a person to vote in a general election without being present just as is now permitted under the absentee voting law in primary elections.
